Doctor of Ministry students are considered full-time while they are engaged in that program, even though they may not be registered for 24 credits during an academic year. The maximum credit load for each term may be exceeded only by special permission of the student's advisor and the Dean of the Seminary.
- PART-TIME students are master's students who take fewer than 24 credits per academic year.

Lancaster Seminary has been enriched by the presence on our campus of those from around the world and values the opportunity to participate in equipping them for leadership in congregations and agencies in their home countries. International applicants are required to meet the general requirements for admission as noted above, as well as additional language, financial and denominational endorsement standards. Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL) is required of all international applicants. Contact the Admissions Office for detailed information about admissions requirements, appropriate programs and deadlines.

SECTION 4 – ACADEMIC POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Advising:

A resident faculty member is assigned to serve as advisor for each student. The faculty advisor assists the student in choosing a course of study that best meets her or his educational and vocational needs. The role of the faculty advisor is to assist in a student's progress toward completion of the degree. Because completion of the degree is more than simply meeting stated requirements, students are encouraged to consult with the advisor on any number of matters, whether spiritual, emotional, vocational, or academic. Occasions for consultation on matters other than academics will vary from student to student, and a student often will seek out a faculty member other than her or his advisor. A student must consult with her or his advisor for clearance for registration for courses, adding or dropping a course, requesting an extension on a course, waiving a requirement, directed study approval, disciplinary matters, and final check for graduation.

Dean of the Seminary:

The Dean of the Seminary oversees the academic procedures and policies of the institution and holds primary responsibility for matters related to student performance and community life. As outlined in this handbook, the Dean of the Seminary oversees student disciplinary actions, evaluates the alternative cross-cultural proposals, and grants permission for waivers, extensions, and other exceptions to seminary policies.

Disability Services

In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act, the seminary provides academic accommodations for eligible students. A part-time Educational Specialist receives documentation and works with students and instructors to arrange for appropriate services.

Chaplains

The seminary also provides part-time chaplains who are available by appointment to consult with students in a variety of situations, such as adjustment to seminary life, interpersonal and family issues, conflict situations, and spiritual needs.

Graduation Requirements:

Upon recommendation of the faculty and final approval of the Board of Trustees, the Master of Divinity, Master of Arts (Religion), Master of Arts (Ministry and Leadership), and Doctor of Ministry degrees are awarded when all appropriate program requirements have been fulfilled. See Sections 14, 15, 16 and 17 for graduation and completion requirements specific to each program.

- All degrees are awarded at the annual Commencement at the end of the Spring semester. No degree, diploma, or certificate will be awarded unless all requirements have been satisfactorily completed and the student account with the seminary is paid in full.
- During the Fall semester of the year in which a student plans to graduate, s/he should meet with the faculty advisor to review the student's transcript and file to be certain that all courses will be completed in time for graduation.
- Although the Office of the Dean, the Registrar, and the faculty advisor will make every effort to notify the student of any outstanding requirements, the final responsibility for completing the necessary requirements rests with the student.
- If a student completes the degree program early, s/he may request clearance for graduation from the Registrar. This clearance will certify that the student has successfully completed all credits and requirements for the degree and, upon approval of the faculty and Board of Trustees, is eligible for graduation.
- A Master's student on the flat-fee tuition payment plan, or a Doctor of Ministry student, who completes the program early must complete all tuition payments prior to final clearance for graduation (MDiv: 6 payments at the prevailing semester rate; MAML: 4 payments at the prevailing semester rate; DMin: 15 quarterly payments at the prevailing tuition rate).
- In the year in which a student plans to graduate, information will be distributed concerning matters related to commencement. In addition, Doctor of Ministry candidates for graduation will receive information concerning matters related to submitting the final Doctoral Project.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- A graduation fee is charged to the student's seminary account in the Spring semester the student is expected to graduate, whether or not the student participates in the commencement service. This fee underwrites but does not cover all expenses incurred by the seminary for commencement.
- Stafford loan Borrowers are required by law to complete Exit Counseling as instructed by the Financial Aid Officer. See Student Financial Responsibility, Section 6.
- Early Participation in Commencement: Under extraordinary circumstances a student who will not have completed all requirements and/or still needs to complete six or fewer credits for the degree by the end of the spring semester may appeal in writing to the Dean of the Seminary for consideration to be permitted to participate in the commencement ceremony in May, under the following conditions:
 - Written request must be received by the Dean of the Seminary no later than April 1 of the commencement year.
 - A final grade must be submitted no later than August 1 of the commencement year. The student's name will be removed from the list of graduates if the deadline is not met.
 - The date of the diploma may be August 31 to reflect the late graduation.
 - The student may be responsible for additional fees for special printing and distribution of the late diploma.
 - The final decision is at the sole discretion of the Dean of the Seminary on a case-by-case basis; approval for one student does not guarantee approval for another student.
 - The student must be in satisfactory financial standing with the seminary in order to be considered for early participation in commencement.

Guidelines for Assigning Academic Credits:

The faculty has adopted guidelines for assigning academic credits for all courses available at Lancaster Seminary. "Credit hour" is the unit by which an institution measures its course work. The number of credit hours assigned to a course is defined by a combination of the number of hours per week in class and out of class preparation.

- Face-to-Face Courses: A face-to-face course offered at Lancaster Theological Seminary devotes most instructional time to in-person interaction, with minimal use of instructional technology.
- Hybrid courses: A hybrid course offered at Lancaster Theological Seminary uses online learning communities to support classroom interaction, devoting at least two-thirds of instructional time to in-person interaction. Guidelines for the granting of course credit and for the time expected of students is as follows:

MDiv Face-to-Face Courses

of academic credits	Class time per week	Preparation time per week	Total time per week	Pages of reading per course (approximate)
1.5 credits				500
10 wk course	2 hr 10 min	2 hrs 30 mins	4 hr 40 mins
5 wk course	4 hr 20 min	5 hrs	9 hrs 20 mins
3 credits	4 hr 20 min	5 hrs	9 hrs 20 mins	1000

MDiv Hybrid Courses

of academic credits	Class time per week	Preparation time per week	Total time per week	Pages of reading per course (approximate)
1.5 credits				500
10 wk course	1 hr 30 mins	3 hr 10 min	4 hr 40 mins
5 wk course	3 hrs	6 hrs 20 min	9 hrs 20 mins
3 credits	3 hrs	6 hrs 20 min	9 hrs 20 mins	1000

Leave of Absence or Withdrawal from Studies:

A Leave of Absence is a temporary interruption in a student's program of study, granted with the expectation that the student will return according to the time frame projected on the request form. In some circumstances, a student may wish to voluntarily withdraw from studies at Lancaster Theological Seminary, without the expectation that he/she will return to studies.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- Leave of Absence: A student may request a Leave of Absence by completing and submitting to the registrar a REQUEST FOR LEAVE OF ABSENCE OR NOTICE OF WITHDRAWAL FORM. [Doctor of Ministry students, see Section 17.]
 - Ordinarily, Leave of Absence will be granted for up to three terms for master's students, or one full year for doctoral students.
 - In certain circumstances, the faculty may recommend an administrative leave of absence.
 - A date the student reasonably expects to return should be provided.
 - In accordance with government regulations, a Stafford loan borrower who has been granted a leave of absence that will exceed 180 days within a 12-month period will be reported as withdrawn and will enter repayment. See Student Financial Responsibility, Section 6, for information on the policies regulating loan funds of students who leave seminary studies.
- Reinstatement from Leave of Absence: In order to be considered for reinstatement following an approved Leave of Absence a master's student must make an appointment with the Dean of the Seminary; a doctoral student must make an appointment with the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee.
 - prior to June 1 to return in the fall; or
 - prior to December 1 to return in the spring .
 - The student's seminary account must be paid in full.
 - Any course(s) previously designated as "Incomplete" must be completed.
 - A grade must be reported to the registrar.
 - A plan for retaking any failed courses, if applicable, must be in place.
 - The student will be reinstated at the same grade level as when the leave was approved. See Student Classifications, Section 2.

Any other conditions agreed upon by the seminary and the student must be met.

- Withdrawal from Studies: To withdraw, the student must complete and submit a Request for Leave of Absence or Notice of Withdrawal form to the registrar. [Doctor of Ministry students see Section 17.]
 - A master's student will be considered automatically "Withdrawn" if s/he does not register in a fall or spring term and fails to request a leave of absence for two consecutive semesters.
 - A doctor's student will be considered automatically "Withdrawn" if s/he fails to secure a leave of absence for up to one full year.
 - Once withdrawn, either voluntarily or under any other circumstances, the student must reapply for admission if s/he wishes to return to study.
 - If accepted, the student will re-enter under the prevailing graduation requirements for the degree
 - Eligibility for credits to be accepted upon re-entry will be evaluated in accordance with stated Transfer Credits policies.
- Official Date of Leave of Absence or Withdrawal
 - For reporting purposes, the official date for either Leave of Absence or Withdrawal will be the last day the student attended class or the last day of the academic term, whichever date occurs first. See Sections 5 and 6 for further clarification.
 - If a Stafford loan borrower withdraws or is granted a Leave of Absence, the official date of leaving studies is determined by federal guidelines.
 - A student is considered on leave or withdrawn in good standing when the following conditions have been met:
 - All existing account balances must be paid in full, OR a written repayment agreement must be on file in the Business Office.
 - Seminary housing must be vacated within 30 days from the date of notice of Leave of Absence or Withdrawal, OR a written move-out agreement, approved by the Dean of the Seminary, must be on file in the Business Office. All other housing policies and procedures apply.
 - Under no circumstances will grades, transcripts, diplomas and/or any other certifications be released if there is an outstanding balance on the student's seminary account and/or if housing has not been vacated.

Military Leave of Absence:

Whenever any member of the armed forces of the United States shall be called or ordered to active duty (other than active duty for training), including active State duty, the seminary shall grant the member a Military Leave of Absence from his or her education.

- Persons on Military Leave of Absence shall be entitled, upon release from active military duty, to be restored to the educational status they had attained prior to their being ordered to military duty without loss of credits earned, scholarships or grants awarded or tuition and other fees paid prior to the commencement of the military duty.

- If a Military Leave of Absence occurs prior to the student's completion of a semester, the student may be eligible for an adjustment of tuition.
 - If the adjustment results in a credit balance, the student may elect to request that the seminary credit the tuition and fees to the next semester or term after the termination of the Military Leave of Absence. See Student Financial Responsibility, Section 6.
 - If applicable, Lancaster Seminary scholarship awards may be adjusted.
 - Lancaster Theological Seminary shall comply with the policies set forth by the U.S. Department of Education regarding return of Title IV funds and deferment of loans by any Stafford loan borrower who is granted a Military Leave of Absence. See Student Financial Responsibility, Section 6.

Separation from Seminary:

Lancaster Theological Seminary reserves the right, upon vote of the faculty, to separate from the seminary any student who fails to meet the standards of academic or community life; or whose character, emotional health, or personal maturity becomes a cause of concern to the community or raises reasonable doubts about the student's fitness for ministry or theological education, or for failure to meet their financial obligations.

- Separation may include administrative leave of absence, administrative withdrawal, suspension or dismissal. The date of separation will be the last day the student attended class or the last day of the term, whichever date occurs first.
 - A student who has been separated from the seminary by administrative leave of absence for more than one year, administrative withdrawal, suspension, or dismissal must reapply for admission. If accepted, s/he will be subject to the prevailing degree program requirements. Eligibility for credits to be accepted upon re-entry will be evaluated in accordance with stated Transfer of Credits policy in Section 4.
 - A student who has been separated from the seminary for less than one year by administrative leave of absence should follow the guidelines for Reinstatement from Leave of Absence to return in this section.
- If a Stafford loan borrower is separated from the seminary for any reason, the official date of leaving studies is determined by federal guidelines. See Student Financial Responsibility, Section 6.

Student Records and Transcripts:

Official copies of student records are maintained by the Registrar. Included in these records are the following: application for admission and application essay, acceptance letter, correspondence relating to academic matters, comprehensive vocational review report and an official transcript of courses and evaluations.

- Access to a student's educational record is limited to the student himself or herself and agents of the seminary who have a legitimate educational interest and are acting within the course and scope of their employment and authority.
- While a student is matriculating, one (1) official transcript per semester will be processed upon the student's written request at no charge to the student. Additional copies will be processed at a fee of $10.00 per transcript. Each request for a transcript must be accompanied by the student's signature; or the student may complete and sign a one-time RELEASE OF TRANSCRIPT AUTHORIZATION FORM which will be filed in the student's permanent record and will be valid until rescinded in writing by the student, or until the student is no longer matriculating at Lancaster Theological Seminary.
- Under no circumstances will a transcript, diploma, grades, certificate or any other certification be released if the student or former student has outstanding financial obligations to the seminary.

Students' Rights in Compliance with the Family Education Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA):

In accordance with federal law, students are hereby notified that they have the right to inspect and review any and all official records, files and data, including all material incorporated in their cumulative record folder.

- A written request by the student to view her or his own educational record should be submitted to the registrar. Within five (5) business days, the Registrar will respond with a time that the student may review the records.
- The student may request a hearing to challenge the contents of these records to insure that they are accurate and not in violation of any of their rights. A written request for a hearing should be submitted to the Dean of Students.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- The student has the opportunity to request correction, amendment or supplementation of any such records. A written request for correction, amendment or supplementation of records should be submitted to the Dean of the seminary.

 - Dates of attendance
 - Photograph
 - Degrees and awards received
 - Participation in recognized activities
 - A student who does not wish to have this information disclosed or published must notify the registrar in writing. The request for non-disclosure will remain in effect until it is rescinded in writing to the registrar. A non-disclosure request is not retroactive.

- Individuals who did not complete the application process, or those who applied but were not enrolled, are not covered by the Act.
- FERPA Compliance issues are regulated by the Family Policy Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW; Washington, DC 20202-5920; ferpa@ed.gov; (202) 260-3887 (voice). Individuals who use TDD may call the Federal Information Relay Service at 1-800-877-8339.

Style Guide for Writing Papers:

The faculty has adopted as the standard guide to writing papers for all programs the following handbook: Kate L. Turabian, A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations: Chicago Style for Students and Researchers, (Chicago: University of Chicago Press). All students are urged to purchase this handbook. It is based on The Chicago Manual of Style. Preference will always be for the most recent edition in publication at the start of the academic year. Copies of the Turabian text and the Chicago Manual of Style are also available in Schaff Library.

- Papers that do not conform to this standard may be returned by professors for rewriting.
- Professors reserve the right to grant advance requests from students wanting to submit papers using MLA style.
- All students attending Lancaster Seminary are expected to be proficient in writing. Written work must display critical thinking skills as well as appropriate grammar, usage and mechanics. Students who experience difficulties with the basic elements of writing (i.e., parts of speech and grammar) are referred to the following book: Jan Venolia, Write Right! A Desktop Digest of Punctuation, Grammar, and Style, 4th edition (New York: Ten Speed Press, 2001).

Submitting Assignments in Electronic Format

is at the discretion of the professor. Lancaster Seminary is not responsible for any work that may be lost in transmission to the professor. Students are advised to retain a copy of each assignment and to ensure that they make a plan for sufficient backup of all their work. Students should follow all policies and procedures set forth in Lancaster Theological Seminary's Electronic Communications Policy in Appendix I of this Handbook.

Intellectual Property Rights Policy:

The purpose of this policy is to clarify ownership of intellectual property for faculty, staff, administration, students, and contractors of the Seminary. The Seminary bases its policy on U.S. Copyright Office Circular #9, "Works Made for Hire," the Columbia University Copyright Policy, and a similar policy by ATS-accredited Columbia Theological Seminary. Preference will always be for the most recent edition in publication at the start of the academic year.

General Principles

1. The fulfillment of the Seminary's mission involves the creation, use, and dissemination of intellectual property, which may be expressed in many forms.
2. The Seminary has a long-standing tradition of recognizing the intellectual property rights of faculty, lecturers, and guest speakers and obtains permissions from these rights holders before distributing their works.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

The Seminary claims copyright in its logos, promotional works, institutional works (including books, periodicals, electronic media, audio and video recordings produced by the Seminary), and any works that bear the Seminary's name. This includes works produced on behalf of the Seminary as works made for hire unless an agreement signed by all parties involved states differently.

Seminary Ownership

1. Apart from the exceptions listed below, the Seminary is the sole owner of all intellectual property created through the use of Seminary resources or facilities, supported directly or indirectly by Seminary funds, and developed within the scope of Seminary employment. Employees of the seminary include faculty members, administrators, full-time staff, part-time staff, and student staff. The Seminary also owns intellectual property specially ordered or commissioned for use by the Seminary when a written agreement is signed that the work shall be considered a work made for hire.
2. The Seminary retains intellectual property rights in its brand identity. Members of the Seminary community must adhere to the Visual Identity Guidelines when using the Seminary's brand identity for official Seminary business. Unauthorized use of the Seminary's brand identity is strictly prohibited.

Exceptions to Seminary Ownership

1. Works by Students: The Seminary recognizes that individuals enrolled in a Seminary course retain ownership and rights over the work they create while enrolled in that course. Works created by student staff of the Seminary within the scope of their employment as staff are not included in this exemption.
2. Works by Faculty: The Seminary does not claim ownership over the works of faculty created within the duties of regular faculty, as outlined in Section 3.1 of the Faculty Manual. Faculty members retain ownership and rights over their scholarship, work they create for their courses, and any other creative works they produce while employed by the Seminary. At times, faculty may be asked to sign an Agreement for Distribution of Digital Content that would grant permission for Seminary use of their work.
3. Works by Guest Lecturers and Speakers: The Seminary recognizes that individuals contracted to speak or lecture at a Seminary-sponsored event retain ownership and rights over the content they deliver at that event. All guest lecturers are asked to sign an Agreement for Distribution of Digital Content, which provides an option to grant permission for Seminary use of their work.

Use of Teaching Materials

In order to facilitate joint work on teaching materials and support collaborative teaching, individuals who contribute teaching materials used in jointly developed and taught Seminary courses grant a nonexclusive, nontransferable license to the Seminary to permit other contributors to the course to continue using those jointly produced teaching materials in Seminary courses. Individuals contributing syllabi for courses in the Seminary's curriculum also grant a nonexclusive, nontransferable license to the Seminary to permit other instructors to use and/or adapt these syllabi for future course offerings at the Seminary.

Appeals and Arbitration

Anyone who feels his or her intellectual property rights, as stipulated by this policy and by Title 17 of the U.S. Code, have been violated may make an appeal to the Dean of the Seminary. (Refer to the appeals process as outlined in Sections 9 and 10).

Transfer Credits, Advanced Standing and On-line Study:

In general, transfer credits are accepted from ATS- accredited institutions under the following guidelines:

- Credits were earned at an institution accredited by The Association of Theological Schools in the U.S. and Canada (ATS).

- Credits have not been applied to another degree already received.
- Credits were earned not more than ten (8) years prior to Lancaster Seminary matriculation. Exception may be requested by written application to the Dean of the Seminary.
- Courses are appropriate for the degree program(s) being pursued at Lancaster Theological Seminary.
- Credits for courses for consideration in meeting Lancaster Seminary degree program requirements must meet the goals and objectives of the required courses as evidenced by a course syllabus, subject to approval by the Dean of the Seminary or the appropriate department professor.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- All transfer credits and advanced standing are subject to approval by the Dean of the Seminary, based on these and other transfer of credit policies. To graduate from Lancaster Seminary, all Lancaster Seminary requirements for the degree must be successfully completed (MDiv, Section 14; MA(R), Section 15). Normally, it is assumed that required courses, or equivalent, will be completed with Lancaster Theological Seminary faculty.

Students from another ATS-accredited institution requesting transfer of credits into a Lancaster Seminary degree program:

 - Upon successful completion of the MDiv program, the student must relinquish the Lancaster Seminary MA(R) diploma.

Transfer from One Master's Program to Another:

Students already accepted into the MDiv or MA(R) program at Lancaster Seminary may make application to transfer from MDiv to MA(R) or MA(R) to MDiv program according to the following guidelines (Note that course schedules may require additional time to complete the degree):

 - Students who cannot register in a fall or spring term, but who wish to remain in the degree program, should follow the policies and procedures set forth in Academic Policies and Procedures, Section 4, for requesting a Leave of Absence. If they do not submit a request, it may be assumed that they wish to withdraw from the program and an Administrative Withdrawal may be processed at the discretion of the Dean of the Seminary.

Registration Changes:

After the end of the formal registration period, changes in registration (adding or dropping courses may be made by completing the ADD OR DROP COURSES FORM, available for download from the seminary website.

- The Add or Drop Courses form must be signed by the student's faculty advisor to add and/or drop classes.

 - If the form is received by the registrar prior to the end of the 50% tuition refund period (See Student Financial Responsibility, Section 6), the dropped course(s) will not appear on the student's transcript.
 - If the form is received by the registrar after the end of the 50% tuition refund period, the dropped course(s) will be designated as Withdraw Pass (WP) or Withdraw Fail (WF) as determined by the professor. WP or WF will be recorded on the student's transcript, but will not be calculated in the GPA.
 - Dropping courses may affect the student's eligibility for financial aid.
- Deadlines to Drop Courses Without Penalty
 - Terms 1, 2, and 3 (10 weeks each) – Up to End of Day 8 of the Term
 - 3-credit Intensive Course – Prior to 3rd class meeting

- Students who submit the signed drop form by the Deadline to Drop Courses Without Penalty may be eligible for a tuition adjustment according to the terms in Section 6.
- All students who register for courses will be graded in those courses unless the Add or Drop Courses form is submitted to the registrar within the posted deadline.

Directed Study:

Students may register for courses listed in the class schedule posted each semester. In addition, it is possible to arrange for a Directed Study with special permission of a resident faculty member/supervisor and approval by the Dean of the Seminary. A Directed Study is intended to give a degree or certificate student the opportunity to conduct study and research in an area of interest to her/him under the supervision of a faculty member. Because supervising a Directed Study affects faculty teaching load, professors are not obligated to undertake a Directed Study, and only full-time resident faculty may supervise a Directed Study.

- It is the student's responsibility to identify clearly the topic and to submit a proposal for a Directed Study.
- A student should be prepared to spend a minimum of 30 hours for each hour of credit to be earned.
- A student must have successfully completed a minimum of 6 credit hours of coursework before applying for a Directed Study.
- Students are limited to no more than three (3) credit hours of Directed Study per term.
- Because of the unique nature of each Directed Study, registration cannot be accomplished on-line.
- Individual faculty members may not supervise more than six (6) credits of Directed Study within one academic year.
- A Directed Study may not be used to fulfill a core curriculum course and is not intended to duplicate or act as a substitute for a regular course, except in rare circumstances with approval from the Dean of the Seminary.
- Procedure to request Directed Study
 - A draft Directed Study proposal should be submitted by the student to the requested professor no later than three weeks before registration periods. Submission of a proposal does not guarantee that the professor and/or Dean of Seminary will approve the proposal.
 - The student submits to the Registrar the completed and signed DIRECTED STUDY PROPOSAL form (available on the Seminary website), along with all supporting documentation. Forms that are not signed or accompanied by the requested documentation will be returned to the student.
 - Only one Directed Study may be taken per semester. Masters level students may not take more than 9 credits of Directed Study without approval by the Dean of the Seminary.
 - Doctor of Ministry students are permitted to take up to six (6) elective credits as Directed Study for the duration of the program upon approval from the Doctor of Ministry Committee.
 - An administrative fee is charged, in addition to regular per-credit tuition, for each Directed Study.

Student Audit of Courses (non-credit):

Full-time students may audit up to six credits during a semester at no charge. Part-time students may audit courses for a charge equal to one-half the regular tuition rate.

- Students who wish to audit a course must seek permission from the professor. The extent of involvement of the auditor is to be negotiated with the professor. Professors may reserve the right to refuse auditors, and auditors will not be permitted in a course filled with the maximum number of registered students.
- The student may register to Audit a course during the regular on-line registration process by choosing "Audit" rather than "Credit." To complete the process, the student submits to the registrar a completed and signed AUDIT FORM. The Add or Drop Courses form is required if the request is submitted after the on-line registration period.
- At the conclusion of the course, the professor will determine if the student has successfully completed an audit. If so, the student will receive "AUD" on her or his transcript. If not, the course will not appear on the transcript.

Course Extensions (Incompletes):

All work for courses is expected to be completed by the time established in the course syllabus. A student may request an extension for time to complete course work. Approval of such a request is not automatic and is limited to one course per semester.

- In order to request an extension for course work, a student must complete a REQUEST FOR EXTENSION OF CLASSWORK form.
- The form must be signed by the course instructor and the student's faculty advisor before an extension is considered. Unsigned forms will be returned to the student.
- The signed form must be submitted to the registrar no later than the last day of the academic term for which it is requested.
It is the student's responsibility to ensure that the signed extension form is delivered by the due date to the registrar for processing.
- Students on Academic Probation are not eligible to request extension of coursework during the semester of probation.
- Course Extension Deadlines:
Completed work must be delivered to the Registrar on or before the close of business on the designated date noted on the following schedule.
 - Extension for Term One must be submitted by December 5
 - Extension for Term Two must be submitted by March 15
 - Extension for Term Three must be submitted by June 5
 - Extension for Summer Term must be submitted by July 15
 - If the due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday or holiday, the work may be submitted by 8:30 a.m. on the following business day.
 - If the student fails to deliver completed work to the Registrar on or before the close of business by the designated deadline, a grade of "F" or "Fail" will be entered on the student's record. See also Standards for Academic Performance, Section 7.
- The Registrar will record receipt of and forward the completed work to the professor.
- A course for which an extension has been granted will be entered on the student's transcript as "incomplete" (Inc), which will remain until the professor submits a change of grade, provided the student complies with the designated submission dates.
- Additional Extension or Variance on Course Extension Deadline: Under extenuating circumstances a student may request more than one extension or a variance on extension deadlines. In this case, the student must
 - Petition the Dean of the Seminary in writing indicating the extenuating circumstance as well as a plan and time frame for completion of the work.
 - Submit to the Registrar an updated REQUEST FOR EXTENSION OF CLASSWORK FORM with the signatures of both the course instructor and the student's faculty advisor, as well as the date by which the work must be submitted.
- Informal arrangements between the student and the professor are not recognized without the submission of the proper paperwork and approval of the Dean of the Seminary, and a student risks having a failing grade posted to her/his academic record.
- For recipients of Federal Stafford loans, "Incomplete" grades on the transcript may affect the determination of Satisfactory Academic Progress toward completion of the degree, required for loan eligibility.
- Grades for courses in which extensions have been approved are due from the professor no later than the end of the subsequent term.
- An administrative fee is charged for each request for extension of course work.

Registration for Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE):

Students in the Master of Divinity and Master of Arts (Religion) programs are encouraged, but not required, to participate in Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) during the course of their studies. Because CPE programs fill quickly, it is recommended that students explore program options and apply early.

- Students wishing to apply CPE to their Field Education requirement can receive 1.5 credits for PT355, and should not register for Field Education. If students are not applying CPE toward Field Education no

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- Full payment of all charges for residential or commuter housing and any other miscellaneous charges.

Monthly Student Statements:

Lancaster Seminary does not mail paper billing statements to enrolled students. The monthly billing statement is available in the SONISWEB system as a ledger form or billing statement form. Failure to acknowledge and review the electronic statement does not relieve responsibility for timely payments.

Tuition and Fees⁴

are set each year by the Board of Trustees. For students who pay on a per-credit basis, tuition is assessed for every course for which a student registers and is charged to student accounts. A tuition adjustment may be applicable if a student drops a course by submitting the ADD OR DROP COURSES FORM by the stated deadline as set forth in the Tuition Adjustment Refund Policy in this section. The prevailing fee schedule is available on the website at My LTS – For Students. Note: Non-attendance does not constitute a course drop. It is the responsibility of the student to submit the Drop form by the deadline to drop courses without penalty to be considered for a tuition adjustment (see Section 5).

Master of Divinity and Master of Arts in Ministry and Leadership students on a flat-fee tuition plan will be billed a flat rate twice per year.

Tuition Discount:

Students who pay on a per-credit basis and who register for 12 or more credits in a semester will receive a tuition discount of $100 per credit. The discount will be applied to the student account after the deadline to drop courses without penalty. (See Tuition Adjustment Refund Policy in this section.)

- Technology Fee: All students are charged a Technology Fee for the Fall and Spring semesters that is used solely for services that Lancaster Seminary provides for students, including student computing and technology equipment, software, networks, site assistance and troubleshooting, and the support staff necessary for these functions to operate effectively. The fee may be pro-rated should the student leave studies for any reason.

There will be a course evaluation override fee charge for each course evaluation override where an evaluation is not completed.

This fee underwrites, but does not cover all expenses incurred by the Seminary for commencement and the graduation process.

Defer Payment of Tuition for Degree-seeking Students:

If payment-in-full by the stated due date is not possible, degree-seeking students may make an arrangement to defer payment of tuition only under the following guidelines:

Based on federal guidelines, graduate and professional students are only eligible to receive unsubsidized loans, which are non-need based loans guaranteed by the government and made through the U.S. Department of Education. The student is responsible for all interest payments accrued with unsubsidized loans. For students who have earned their bachelor's degree prior to enrollment, the Stafford borrowing maximum allowed by the federal government for your seminary studies is $20,500 per academic year. These funds, by law, must be disbursed in two equal amounts, near the start of the first semester and the start of the second semester. Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- The Seminary notifies the NSLDS (National Student Loan Database System) within 30 days of a student's leaving Seminary studies or dropping below half-time enrollment.
- The effective date of leaving Seminary studies is determined by federal guidelines.

Return of Title IV Funds for Stafford Loan Borrowers:

For Stafford loan borrowers who leave the seminary, return of Title IV Funds will be determined according to federal guidelines. If a student has completed more than 60% of the payment period, he or she is considered to have earned 100% of the Title IV loan aid received for the payment period. In this case, no funds need to be returned to the Title IV aid programs. If a student withdraws before completing more than 60% of the payment period, the amount of any Title IV loan aid the student received for the period must be recalculated to reflect the portion of the period completed prior to leaving studies. The unearned Title IV loan aid for the percentage of the payment period not completed must be returned to the applicable Title IV program. Return of the Title IV Funds will be distributed in the following order: [Note: Lancaster Theological Seminary students are eligible for Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loans only.]

1. Unsubsidized Federal Stafford Loan
2. Direct Unsubsidized Stafford Loan
3. PLUS loans received on behalf of the student
4. Direct PLUS loans received on behalf of the student
5. Other Title IV grant or loan assistance

SECTION – 7 STANDARDS FOR ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE

In addition to the specific curricular requirements, there are two primary standards used to assess academic performance: (1) at least a 2.0 grade point average (GPA) for each semester for Master’s students; at least a 3.0 grade point average (GPA) for each semester for doctoral students; and (2) satisfactory academic progress toward completion of the degree. Determination of Satisfactory Academic Progress is outlined in Upholding Academic Standards, Section 8, for master’s students, and in Section 17 for Doctor of Ministry students.

Grades and Cumulative Grade Average:

Students regularly receive both oral and written feedback on course work. Formal evaluation for courses includes the assignment of letter grades or a designation of “Pass” or “Fail.” The following indicates the numerical equivalents for letter grades used to determine cumulative grade averages. It identifies grades which figure into the GPA and for which credit is earned (counted toward the program) or attempted:

Grade	Description	Points	In GPA	Credits
A	Excellent	4.0	Y	Earned
A-	Excellent	3.7	Y	Earned
B+	Good (M)	3.3	Y	Earned
B	Good	3.0	Y	Earned
B-	Good (M) Not Passing (D)	2.7	Y	Earned (M) Attempted (D)
C+	Fair (M) Not Passing (D)	2.3	Y	Earned (M) Attempted (D)
C	Fair (M) Not Passing (D)	2.0	Y	Earned (M) Attempted (D)
Pass	Equal To C or greater (M) Equal To B or greater (D)	0.0	N	Earned
C-	Not Passing	1.7	Y	Attempted
D+	Not Passing	1.3	Y	Attempted
D	Not Passing	1.0	Y	Attempted
D-	Not Passing	0.3	Y	Attempted
F	Not Passing	0.0	Y	Attempted
Fail	Equal. To C- or lower (M) Equal to B- or lower (D)	0.0	N	Attempted
I	Incomplete	0.0	N	Attempted
W, WP, WF	Withdrawn from course	0.0	N	Attempted

Earned and Attempted Credits:

All credits for which a student registers are considered “attempted” credits whether or not they have been successfully completed.

- Master’s students (M):
 - Credits for courses for which a student earns a letter grade of C or higher or Pass are considered attempted and earned credits toward completion of the degree. Letter grades are used in calculating the GPA.
 - Credits for courses for which a student earns a letter grade of C- or lower, Fail, WP or WF are considered attempted credits only and are not counted toward completion of the degree. Letter grades are used in calculating the GPA.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- Doctor's Students (D):
 - Credits for courses for which a student earns a letter grade of B or higher or Pass are considered attempted and earned credits toward completion of the degree. Letter grades are used in calculating the GPA.
 - Credits for courses for which a student earns a letter grade of B- or lower, Fail, WP or WF are considered attempted credits and are not counted toward completion of the degree. Letter grades are used in calculating the GPA.
- Neither "Pass" nor "Fail" is calculated in grade point averages.
- "F" or "Fail" that has not been resolved by the last day of the term following the one in which it was earned will remain on the student's permanent record.

Alternate Grading Option:

Professors designate courses as either letter graded or pass/fail at the beginning of the term as noted on the course schedule posted for the semester. A student may choose the alternate form of evaluation (except for Ministerial Studies sequence courses) by taking the following steps:

- Complete the portion of the ALTERNATE GRADE FORM marked "Pass/Fail Grading Option For Graded Course" or "Letter Grade Option For Pass/Fail Course."
- The student must submit the completed form to the registrar within the first two weeks of the beginning of a Fall or Spring term 10-week course or before the second class period of shorter term courses.
- Once an alternate grading option is chosen and processed, it is irrevocable.
- In addition to submitting the proper form to the registrar, the student is responsible for notifying the professor at the beginning of the term that s/he would like a grade for a course that has been designated as pass/fail.
- At the completion of the term, the instructor may submit a letter grade for all members of the class. If the student has elected to be evaluated with a pass/fail, the transcript will show a "Pass" for a grade of C or higher, or a "Fail" for a grade of C- or lower

Repeating a Course:

Master's students may be required to repeat failed courses as follows:

Required courses with a grade of C- or below, Fail, WP or WF must be repeated and successfully completed in order to fulfill graduation requirements.

- Elective courses with a grade of C- or below, Fail, WP or WF may be repeated at the student's discretion.
- Both the C- or below or Fail grades and the subsequent passing grade from repeating the course are included in the student's permanent record. In the case of letter grades, the new passing grade is included in calculating grade point average.
- A required course may be repeated more than once only upon authorization from the Dean of the Seminary.
- The student will be charged tuition at the time of registration for the course to be repeated.
- Scholarship funding is not provided for any repeated course tuition charges.
- Courses for which a passing grade has been earned may not be repeated for the purpose of improving the grade.

Class Attendance:

Students are expected to attend every class session in its entirety. Attendance in each course is recorded in the manner preferred by the instructor.

- Absences and tardiness may be taken into consideration in evaluating the seminarian's total contribution to the work of the course.
- All absences not satisfactorily explained by the seminarian are regarded as unexcused.
- The student is responsible for consulting with the professor about the best means for making up work missed due to absence.
- Normally, missing 20% or more of class sessions will result in failure of the course.

Contesting a Grade:

A student who is dissatisfied with the grade earned in a course must first seek to resolve the issue through a direct conference with the course instructor. If the dispute cannot be resolved in this manner the master's student may bring the concern to the Dean of the Seminary, or the doctor's student may bring the concern to the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee.

- The Dean of the Seminary (or Chair) shall confer with the student and the instructor for the purpose of negotiating a solution.
- If a mutually satisfactory outcome cannot be found through such negotiation, the student may request a formal review by submitting a written request to the Dean of the Seminary (or Chair), within five (5) business days from the date of the decision, stating reasons for contesting the grade.
- The Dean of the Seminary (or Chair) then will arrange to have the student's work evaluated by a second reader, either another Lancaster Seminary professor qualified in the same field or another person outside the Lancaster Seminary faculty who is equally well qualified.
- After receiving a report from the second reader, the Dean of the Seminary (or Chair) will make a determination on the final grade.
- If the student is not satisfied with the decision of the Dean of the Seminary (or Chair), s/he may appeal to the Faculty within five (5) business days from the date of the report, for further review.
- The decision of the Faculty is final.

SECTION 8 – UPHOLDING ACADEMIC STANDARDS

Determination of Satisfactory Academic Progress:

A student is considered to be making “satisfactory academic progress” as follows:

- Masters Students
 - A cumulative GPA of 2.0 for graded courses is maintained and/or
 - No more than one (1) failing grade (F, Fail or WF) per semester is earned, not to exceed three (3) failing grades for the duration of the degree program.
- Doctors Students
 - A cumulative GPA of 3.0 for graded courses is maintained;
 - no course or components of the program are failed;
 - an average of ten (10) credit hours per semester are successfully completed within the first three years in the program; and
 - the completion of the doctoral project is on schedule.
- Federal Stafford Loan Borrowers:

Federal regulations require that Stafford loan borrowers must make satisfactory academic progress toward a degree, to be reviewed at the end of each academic year, and must be on track to complete the degree program within the time limits described in Section 2. Stafford loan borrowers who are not making satisfactory academic progress or are on probation may file an appeal to continue to receive a loan for the next year by completing and submitting to the Financial Aid Office an ACADEMIC PROGRESS APPEAL FORM, documenting extenuating personal circumstances and/or a remedial academic plan approved by the advisor.

Progress Toward Completion of the Degree:

If there is an indication that a masters student is not making satisfactory academic progress toward completion of a degree, the student’s faculty advisor and the Dean of the Seminary, after consultation with the student, may formulate a motion for action by the faculty. Faculty action may include:

- Suspension pending satisfactory completion of remedial steps such as tutoring, special course work or counseling, or
- Administrative Leave of Absence with terms to be specified by the faculty; or
- Dismissal.
- In the case of a Master of Divinity student, the Dean of the Seminary may report an action of the faculty to the student’s authorizing committee or similar endorsing denominational body.
- If there is an indication that a doctoral student is not making satisfactory academic progress toward the degree (for example, failing any course or component of the curriculum), the chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee, in consultation with the student’s advisor and the student, may make a recommendation to the Doctor of Ministry Committee. The Committee may formulate a motion for action by the faculty that may include the above.
- Appeals: A student has the right to appeal an action of the faculty according to the process set forth in Standards for Conduct, Section 9.

Academic Probation:

A master’s student is automatically placed on academic probation for the subsequent semester and will be notified by the Dean’s Office of his or her probationary status when:

- The grade point average for courses taken during a fall or spring semester is below 2.0, or
- F, Fail or WF is earned for any course.
- To be removed from academic probation, the student must:
 - Achieve a 2.0 or higher grade point average, and/or all “Pass” grades for courses taken as Pass/Fail, during the semester of probation;
 - Complete all course work by the end of the semester due date with no course extensions;
 - Meet regularly during the semester with his or her faculty advisor; and
 - Achieve a 2.0 or higher cumulative grade point average, and/or all “Pass” grades for courses taken as Pass/Fail.

If the student does not meet the conditions of academic probation, the Dean of the Seminary in consultation with the student’s advisor, will formulate a motion for action by the faculty. This action may include continuation of probation, suspension or dismissal. In the case of a Master of Divinity student, the Dean of the Seminary may report the decision of the faculty to the student's authorizing committee or similar endorsing denominational body. Stafford loan borrowers are subject to federal regulations regarding probation

Faculty Review of Student Progress:

Substance of the Review: The faculty reviews, on at least an annual basis, each student's progress toward completion of his or her degree program. This evaluation includes areas related to readiness for ministry consistent with the seminary's mission statement, academic policies and standards for student conduct. The review includes assessments of:

- Academic Performance
- Vocational Development
- Maturity of faith and character

Purpose of the review: The purpose of the review is to identify areas of affirmation and concern in ways that may be helpful to the faculty in supporting the student and in being faithful to the needs of the church. If the faculty determines that a student's progress toward readiness for ministry is deficient in regard to academic performance, vocational development or maturity of faith and character, it may, at its sole discretion, recommend or require of the student one or more of the following:

- Supportive consultation with the faculty advisor.
- Remedial studies at Lancaster Seminary or elsewhere.
- Transfer to a different degree program, if applicable.
- Leave of Absence
- Dismissal from studies.
- Other appropriate responses.

In the case of a Master of Divinity student, the Dean of the Seminary may report the determination, recommendation, requirement or action of the faculty to the student's authorizing committee or similar endorsing denominational body when such action is appropriate.

Appeal Process:

An appeal of a faculty determination, recommendation, requirement or action may be made according to the procedure set forth in Appeals in Section 9.

SECTION 9 – STANDARDS FOR ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

As a theological seminary educating and strengthening persons for service to church and society, the Seminary expects students to commit themselves to high standards of academic and community life. Expected in all matters is honesty, respect for others and care for the quality of community life. When a student violates the Standards for Academic Integrity, the Seminary seeks to address the breach in both pastoral and just ways.

Statement of Standards:

Lancaster Theological Seminary students act in all academic and Seminary matters with the utmost honesty and integrity. They conduct themselves professionally and responsibly in order to promote a community of trust and respect. These fundamental values inform and support the Seminary's commitment to honoring diversity, creating and nurturing community, and upholding academic excellence.

 - Submitting the same work for more than one course without clear and prior consent of all instructors.

Standards Committee:

The Standards Committee is appointed annually by the Dean of the Seminary and consists of at least two faculty members (excluding the President and the Dean of the Seminary) and two students. The Standards Committee meets when called for an academic integrity hearing and occasionally for policy review and revision.

1. A faculty member or student who suspects a student of violating the standards of academic integrity, shall report their suspicions to the Dean of the Seminary in writing with supporting evidence.
2. If there is sufficient evidence for an inquiry, the Dean of the Seminary shall determine the severity of the alleged violation and if it is a first-time or repeat offense.
3. For first-time, not severe offenses:
 - 3.1. The Dean of the Seminary shall convene a meeting with the student, faculty member for the course involved, and faculty advisor to review what happened.

 - 3.5. The Dean's Office shall track the student's progress toward meeting the requirements. It is the student's responsibility to stay in contact with the Dean's Office while fulfilling the requirements. The Dean of the Seminary notifies the faculty member and faculty advisor in writing when the student has completed the requirements.

 - 4.2. If the student is found not guilty, a report shall be made to the faculty and no further action is taken.
 - 4.3. If the student is found guilty, the Standards Committee deliberates on an appropriate disciplinary action and formulates a motion for faculty action:
 - Formal Admonishment: A written statement that becomes a part of the student's permanent file.
 - Suspension: Action to suspend a student includes a recommendation of steps the student should take to be permitted to resume studies.
 - A student may apply to the Dean of the Seminary for removal of a suspension after satisfactory completion of recommended steps.
 - Removal of suspension is an action of the Dean of the Seminary in consultation with the faculty.
 - Students returning from suspension may participate in a restorative welcome circle facilitated by the chair of the Standards Committee.
 - Dismissal: Students dismissed from the Seminary may not resume studies without re-applying and being admitted. Dismissal will be recorded on the student's transcript and a copy of the dismissal action will become a part of the student's permanent file.
 - Other action appropriate to the circumstances.
 - 4.4. Upon receiving the motion from the Standards Committee, the regular faculty shall convene to deliberate and decide on an action. The Dean of the Seminary shall communicate the outcome to the student.
 - 4.5. If the action involves requirements to be met by the student, the Dean's Office shall track the student's progress toward meeting the requirements. It is the student's responsibility to stay in contact with the Dean's Office while fulfilling the requirements. The Dean of the Seminary notifies the regular faculty when the student has completed the requirements.

SECTION 10 – STANDARDS FOR PERSONAL INTEGRITY

As a Christian community of learning, the Seminary expects that all members of our community show respect for one another. Such respect includes care for the personal well-being and faith development of others. It involves sensitivity to personal differences, including racial, sexual, ethnic and religious diversity. Such respect also extends to respect for the property and privacy of others.

Students in any program of and/or employed by the Seminary are subject to all policies adopted by Lancaster Theological Seminary. Such policies include but are not limited to: Anti-Harassment Policy; Prevention of Sexual Assault and Rape Policy; Alcohol & Substance Abuse/Drug-Free Workplace Policy; Smoking Policy; Electronic Communications Policy; and Guidelines for Conduct (see Appendix I).

Statement of Standards:

Please see the “Statement of Standards” in Section 9, Standards for Academic Integrity.

Breaches of the Seminary’s Standards for Personal Integrity include but are not limited to the acts listed in the Guidelines for Conduct (see Appendix I).

Grievance Policy:

If a person feels aggrieved by a member of the Lancaster Theological Seminary community, the issue should first be discussed with and, if possible, resolved with the other relevant party. Ideally, this should be achieved by meeting face to face with the other party rather than through memo, email or voice mail. Lacking a mutually satisfactory resolution, a person may bring a formal grievance to the appropriate authority.

Superseding Procedures:

Some breaches of the Seminary’s Standards for Personal Integrity are covered by procedures that supersede the procedure presented here. Those procedures are:

- For cases of harassment, sexual or otherwise, follow the procedure in the Anti-Harassment Policy (see Appendix I)
- For cases of rape and sexual assault, follow the procedure in the Prevention of Sexual Assault and Rape Policy (see Appendix I)

Procedure:

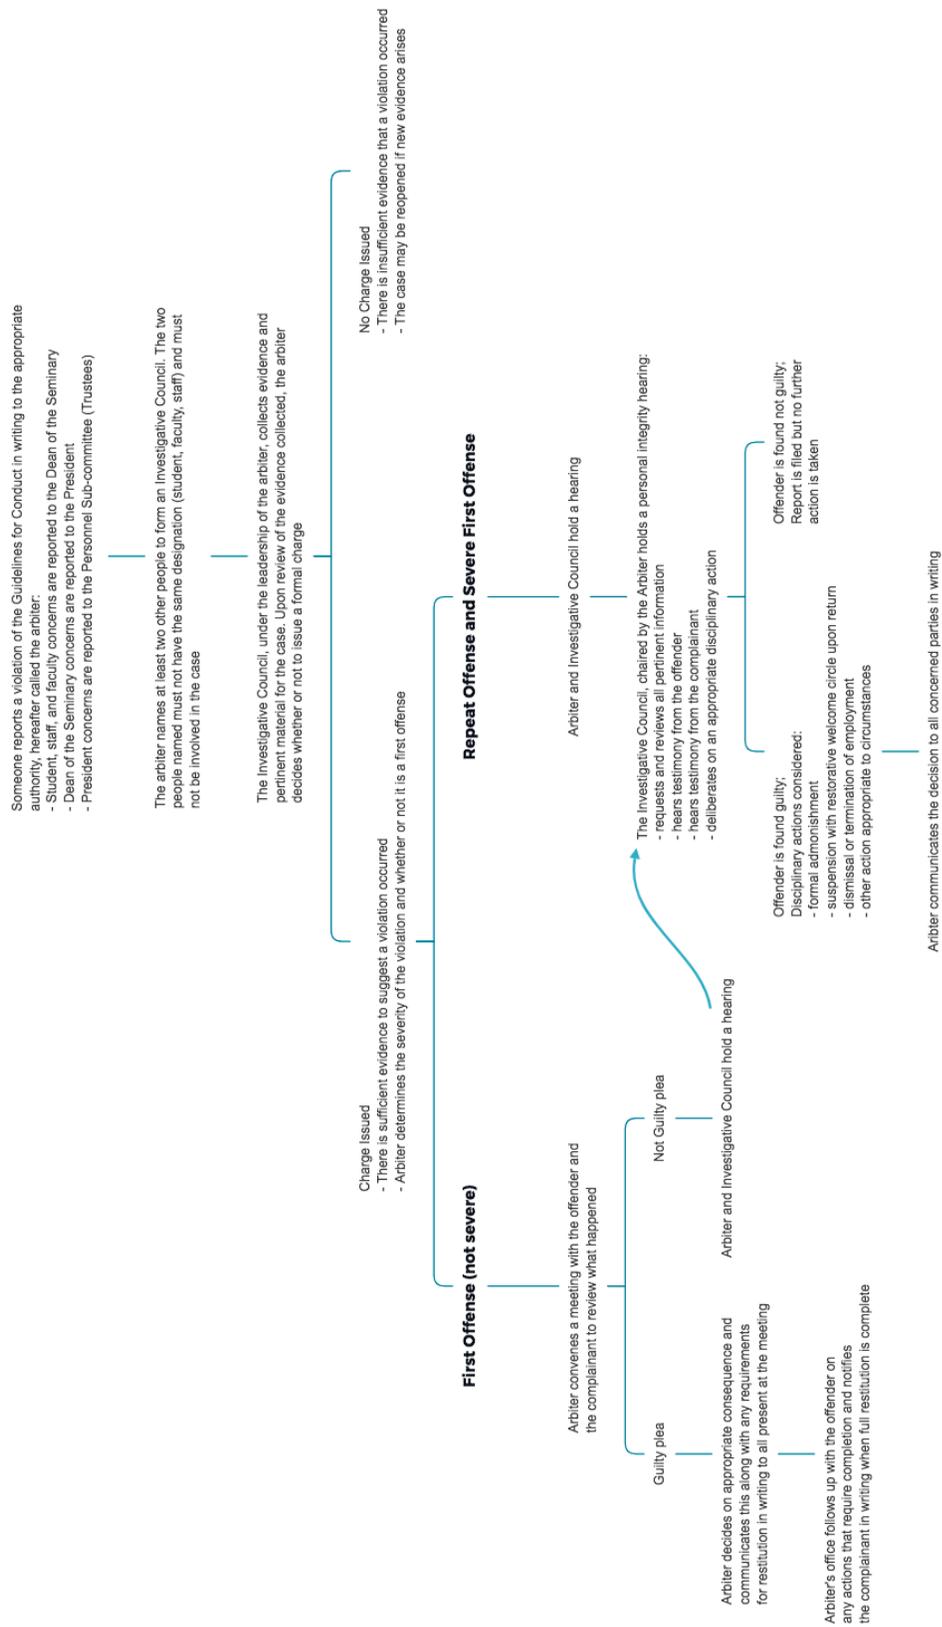

When there is a suspected breach of the Standards for Personal Integrity that is not covered by one of the procedures mentioned above, the following procedure shall be followed:

1. Anyone who suspects a member of the Lancaster Theological Seminary community of violating the standards for personal integrity shall report their suspicions in writing with supporting evidence to the appropriate authority, hereafter called the arbiter:

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- Student, staff, and faculty concerns are reported to the Dean of the Seminary;
 - Dean of the Seminary concerns are reported to the President; and
 - President concerns are reported to the Chair of the Personnel Sub-committee of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees.
2. The arbiter shall name at least two other people to form an Investigative Council. The two council members named must not have the same designation (student, faculty, staff) and must not be involved in the case. If appropriate, the arbiter may choose to call the Standards Committee to act in the place of an Investigative Council.
 3. The Investigative Council, under the leadership of the arbiter, shall collect evidence and pertinent material for the case. If the Standards Committee is called in place of an Investigative Council, the chair of the Standards Committee shall lead the committee through the process and shall make a report to the arbiter. Upon review of the evidence collected, the arbiter decides whether or not to issue a formal charge.
 4. No charge is issued when there is insufficient evidence that a violation occurred. The case may be reopened if new evidence arises.
 5. A charge is issued when there is sufficient evidence to suggest a violation occurred. At the time the charge is issued, the arbiter shall determine the severity of the violation and if it is a first-time or repeat offense.
 6. For first-time offenses:
 - 6.1. The arbiter convenes a meeting with the offender and the complainant to review what happened.
 - 6.2. If the offender pleads not guilty, the arbiter and investigative council hold a hearing (see 7.1 and following).
 - 6.3. If the offender pleads guilty, the arbiter decides on an appropriate consequence and communicates this along with any requirements for restitution in writing to all present at the meeting.
 - 6.4. The arbiter's office shall track the offender's progress toward meeting the requirements. It is the offender's responsibility to stay in contact with the arbiter's office while fulfilling the requirements. The arbiter notifies the complainant in writing when full restitution is complete.
 7. For repeat offenses and severe first-time offenses, the arbiter and Investigative Council shall hold a hearing:
 - 7.1. The Investigative Council, under the leadership of the arbiter, shall convene a personal integrity hearing within five (5) business days of the issuance of the formal charge. It shall request and review all pertinent information, hear testimony from the offender, and hear testimony from the complainant. If the Standards Committee is called in place of an Investigative Council, the chair of the Standards Committee shall lead the committee through the personal integrity hearing and shall provide a report with recommendations to the arbiter.
 - 7.2. If the offender is found not guilty, a report of the case is filed, and no further action is taken.
 - 7.3. If the offender is found guilty, the arbiter deliberates on an appropriate disciplinary action (if the offender is a student, please see 4.3 under "Procedure" in Section 9):
 - Formal admonishment;
 - Suspension;
 - Dismissal; or
 - Other action appropriate to the circumstances.
 - 7.4. The arbiter shall communicate the decision to all concerned parties in writing.
 - 7.5. If the action involves requirements to be met by the offender, the arbiter's office shall track the offender's progress toward meeting the requirements. It is the offender's responsibility to stay in contact with the arbiter's office while fulfilling the requirements. The arbiter notifies the complainant in writing when full restitution is complete.

An offender may appeal a decision to the next highest level of authority according to this procedure:

1. The offender must submit the request for appeal in writing to the next highest administrator (see 1 under Procedure) within five (5) business days of receiving notice of the decision, stating clear reason for the appeal.
2. The higher administrator shall review all documentation from the case and convene a meeting with the offender, the complainant, and the original arbiter.
3. If the higher administrator decides to uphold the original decision, no further appeal may be made. The decision of the higher administrator is final.
4. If the higher administrator agrees to reopen the case, the higher administrator shall appoint an Appellate Council comprised of one faculty member, one staff member, and one student (excluding all parties involved in the case and members of the Investigative Council).
5. The Appellate Council shall review the case by studying all documentation from the case, hearing testimony from the offender, hearing testimony from the complainant, and hearing testimony from the arbiter and investigative council.
6. Upon completion of its review, the Appellate Council shall provide a written report and recommendation to the higher administrator.
7. The higher administrator shall decide on the appeal and notify the offender of the decision within five (5) business days of receiving the report of the Appellate Council. No further appeal may be made. The decision of the higher administrator is final.

Current Lancaster Seminary Students may apply for after-hours access privileges.

Access is granted via the ADA doors from 6 a.m. to midnight, 7 days/week, for one enrollment period at a time. SECTION 12 - STUDENT AND COMMUNITY LIFE

Student Life

Changes of Personal Biographical Information:

Students may change their addresses and/or phone numbers via their SONISWEB accounts. Changes should be reported as soon as they occur. A request for name change must be accompanied by a photo copy of a driver's license, Social Security card or other legal identification reflecting the new name.

Classroom Etiquette:

The use of recording devices and computers during classes should be arranged with professors before classes begin each semester. Eating during class should be limited to break times. Audible cell phone or pager ringers must be turned off or set for silent operation in the classroom while class is in session. A student who must receive or make a call should leave the classroom before doing so.

Disability Services:

Lancaster Seminary strives to provide an environment in which all students have equal access to educational opportunities and the campus community. With this goal in mind, the seminary makes it possible for students with documented cognitive disabilities to use reasonable auxiliary aids and services to ensure effective participation, provided such auxiliary aids and services meet licensing and accrediting standards and do no change program purposes or impact necessary skills.

- Requests for academic accommodations must be initiated by the student. While obvious physical disabilities will usually not need to be documented, those with other disabilities such as, but not limited to brain injury, learning disabilities, ADD/ADHD, or other neurological or psychological disabilities will likely need to document their needs to the Seminary where the documentation remains confidential.
- Casual academic accommodations negotiated between individual professors and students are not recognized under this policy.
- To request academic accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ACT), contact the Registrar, Teresa Benneian (717-290-8748).
- The student must request academic accommodation each academic year.
- See Appendix II for complete information. Request forms may be downloaded from the seminary website at Current Students > Student Services at LTS > Student Accessibility.

Health Insurance:

Lancaster Theological Seminary strongly encourages all students to carry a health benefit plan for themselves and their dependents. Lancaster Seminary does not provide an infirmary or employ resident medical personnel. Health care is an individual responsibility for all students. Students must complete, sign and return a DECLARATION OF HEALTH BENEFIT COVERAGE form to the Registrar.

- Lancaster Seminary has partnered with EHD to offer a way for students to obtain individual health insurance that is in compliance with all healthcare reform and allows students to purchase comprehensive insurance at competitive prices. For additional information contact the Business Office. For a no-obligation quote, contact EHD at 866-312-9554 or www.ehdhealthplans.com.
- International Students: Students who are citizens of countries other than the U.S. who have been issued F-1 visas to study at Lancaster Seminary are required to purchase health care coverage from a U.S. provider. There are no exceptions to this policy
- Waiver of Health Coverage Policy: Students must provide proof of healthcare coverage and/or sign a waiver acknowledging that they assume full responsibility for payment of their own health care costs.

Housing for Students:

Unfurnished one- and two-bedroom apartments are available to rent by degree-seeking master's students registered at Lancaster Seminary for a minimum of 24 credits per academic year. Housing reservations are on a first-come, first-served basis upon receipt of a $100 housing reservation fee, which will be credited to the first month's rent. The fee is non-refundable should the decision to rent change.

- Apartments: Priority is one-bedroom apartments for single students and couples; two-bedroom apartments for students with dependent children. For more information or to reserve resident student housing, first-time students should contact the Director of Admissions and Financial Aid.

Apartment rent includes water, sewer, and heat. Electric service is the responsibility of the tenant, and the tenant is required to contact PPL upon or prior to occupancy to convert the electric service account to the tenant's name. Telephone and cable service are optional and are the responsibility of the tenant.

- Commuter Rooms: Overnight housing in Richards Hall may be reserved by commuter students. For more information or to make reservations for commuter rooms, contact the administrative assistant in the Business Office.

Return of security deposit will be determined after inspection of the premises by the maintenance department prior to move-out.
- Pet Policy⁷: Pets are permitted only with prior approval from the Business Office and tenants agree to comply with the full POLICY FOR PETS AND SERVICE ANIMALS upon executing a lease to occupy seminary housing. Failure to request permission to keep a pet in a tenant's apartment will be considered a breach of the tenant's lease or other rental agreement, and both the tenant and the pet may be required to vacate the premises. Pet owners will be aware of and comply with all related Lancaster City ordinances, including Article 715, Chapter 96.
 - Keeping pets on campus is restricted to the student apartments in Nevin, Harner and Bowman. Keeping pets in these apartments is a privilege, not a right. Tenants must commit to abiding by the Pet Policy in order to enjoy the privilege of keeping a pet on campus.
 - Pets are not permitted in the following buildings: Dietz Refectory, Richards Hall, Mayer Commons, the Lark Administration Building or the Philip Schaff Library. Therefore, pets are not permitted in classrooms, chapel or in any office.

 - Tenants or any other person violating the Pet Policy, including bringing a pet into a building where pets are not permitted; failure to pick up dog waste on seminary grounds, etc., may incur fines as published on the Pet Policy. Violations should be reported to the Business Office.
 - In addition to security deposits and rent for seminary housing, a one-time pet security deposit of $300 is required, refundable if the seminary determines that there are no damages or other expenses caused by the pet(s) upon the tenant's vacating the apartment or relocating the pet(s).
 - In addition, the following non-refundable annual fees are required for pets:
 - Dog, $150; second dog, $75 .
 - Cat, $75; second cat, $25
 - Other animals, first, $50; second other animal, $50.
 - Pet security deposits will be held over each year, subject to an annual inspection. The annual inspection may result in a request for additional deposit for the following year. Significant pet damage may be deducted from the one-month security deposit from housing.
 - Service Animals: The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service animal as any guide dog, signal dog or other animal individually trained to provide assistance to an individual with a disability. Animals meeting this definition are considered Service Animals under the ADA, regardless of whether they have been licensed or certified by a state or local government.
 - The service animal will be permitted to accompany the individual with a disability to all areas of the facility where the person is normally allowed to go. An individual with a service animal may not be segregated from other people.
 - Service animals used by tenants are subject to the Annual Pet Fee, Pet Deposit and behavior and care expectations set forth in the Policy for Pets and Service Animals in Appendix VI.

⁷It is the student's responsibility to review and abide by the full Policy for Pets and Service Animals in Appendix VI prior to bringing a pet to campus, whether to visit or to live.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- Tenants planning to bring service animals onto campus on a regular basis must register the service animal with the Business Office.

 - Resident parking tags are void at the date of departure from campus housing, but may be exchanged for a Pine Street Lot/Commuting Student parking lot tag if the resident becomes a commuting student.
- Commuting Student/Pine Street Lot: All spaces are reserved for commuting students. Commuting students will be issued parking tags for the Pine Street Parking Lot.
 - A gate-opener is needed to access this lot and may be requested from the Business Office.
 - On-street parking is usually available nearby.
 - Remember to read the street cleaning signs or you will be ticketed by City Police!
- Richards Hall Parking: Commuters who rent rooms in Richards Hall for more than two nights per week receive a special parking pass for the area directly behind their short-term residence. In the event that extra spaces are available, they will be assigned to Richards Hall residents based on history of prior usage.
- Administration, Faculty, Staff, Trustees: A West Lot parking tag will be issued for parking only in this area. Between the hours of 7:30 am and 5:00 pm, all parking spaces in this parking lot are reserved for visitors, administration, faculty, staff and trustees. After 5:00 pm and before 7:30 am and anytime on weekends or holidays, anyone associated with the Seminary may use this lot.
- Visitor Parking: Visitors on campus for Seminary business may park in the indicated visitor parking spaces in the West Lot for up to thirty minutes; if more time is required and/or if visitor spaces are not available, a temporary parking tag may be obtained in the Business Office. This tag shall be hung from the inside rear-view mirror of the vehicle.
- Handicap Parking: Designated spaces in the West Lot and in the area outside Richards Hall are reserved for persons with disabilities.
- Violations of Seminary Parking Policies: Rounds are made on a regular basis, and parking tickets are issued to violators. Fines may be paid in the Business Office. Unpaid accumulated parking violation fines will be reflected on the student's seminary account and will result in the loss of parking privileges and/or the vehicle being towed at the owner's expense.
- Repeat violations of parking policies (i.e., more than two parking tickets given to a particular vehicle) will also result in the revocation of parking privileges and the vehicle being towed at the owner's expense.
- City Street Cleaning: Observe signs indicating days and times of street cleaning. Fines are levied by the City for failure to observe the "No Parking" times.
- Bicycle Storage: Because of fire and safety regulations, bicycles may not be stored or parked in halls or stairwells of buildings. Apartment residents may store bicycles in the basement of Bowman Apartments in the room between the laundry and the west storage room. Laundry room keys will open the outside doors to the basement area.

Recreational Facilities:

At the discretion of Frank & Marshall College, Lancaster Theological Seminary students may be permitted limited use of the facilities at the F&M Alumni Sports and Fitness Center located on Harrisburg Avenue. The scope, policy and process for this privilege are reviewed annually by F&M and may change without notice. Current policy information and subsequent updates will be posted on students' seminary e-mail accounts. Students should not contact F&M directly, but should request information through the Lancaster Seminary Dean's Office.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

Sabbath Room:

A sacred space located adjacent to the Glatfelter Conference Room has been consecrated for use by the Seminary Community for prayer, meditation and contemplation. Members of the Seminary Community may reserve the room for one-hour blocks of time. Guidelines for using the Sabbath Room and a reservation calendar are located outside the entrance to the room.

Seminary Identification Card:

Students are issued a Seminary identification (ID) card at orientation and annually thereafter. The Seminary ID card is necessary to check out library materials at Lancaster Theological Seminary and at Franklin & Marshall College Library. Other local establishments may provide certain discounts for which a school ID card is required.

Seminary Governance:

The Board of Trustees of Lancaster Theological Seminary governs Lancaster Theological Seminary under its by-laws. The Board calls a President to serve as the chief executive officer, to whom the Board delegates the day to day administration of the seminary. In consultation with the President, the Board of Trustees also calls a Vice President of Academic Affairs/Dean of the Seminary and regular faculty. The Board delegates the academic administration of the seminary to the President, Vice President of Academic Affairs/Dean of the Seminary and faculty. The President has organized the administrative work of the Seminary as follows:

- Senior Leadership: The President of the Seminary, Dean of the Seminary, Executive Director of Development and Communication, and Vice President of Operations and Finance serve as Senior Leadership.

Administrative Cabinet: An Administrative Cabinet consults with the President on general administration of the seminary, facilitates the flow of information, implements policy decisions of the Trustees and functions as staff for institutional planning and strategy. Members include the President and representatives from each department of the seminary: Chief Academic Officer, Chief Advancement Officer, Chief Admissions Officer, and Chief Financial Officer. The moderator of the Seminarian Community Council is invited to serve on the Administrative Cabinet and to provide input and facilitate communication with the wider student body.

- Faculty: Regular full-time faculty members meet regularly and have responsibility for academic policy in educational programs of the seminary. Adjunct faculty and administrative officers of the seminary have voice, but no vote.
- Seminary Committees: In addition to scheduled meetings of the regular faculty, the following other committees meet regularly throughout the semester: (1) Diversity and Educational Life Committee of the Seminary; (2) Doctor of Ministry Committee; and (3) Faculty Development and Review Committee. A regular faculty member usually serves as chair in each committee and, as applicable, the committees may consist of faculty, staff, administration, students and trustees.

SECTION 13 – MASTER OF DIVINITY PROGRAM

The Master of Divinity program is an integrated program of study that provides a foundation for various forms of ministry. In many denominations, completion of a Master of Divinity degree is a prerequisite for ordination.

As expressed in the seminary's Mission Statement, the Master of Divinity curriculum is a program of study, worship, practice and common life which endeavors to educate and nurture leaders to join in God's work in the world.

Degree Goals

Student learning goals for this degree are:

- To encounter and engage theological disciplines in order to contribute to contemporary modes of thinking and community building.
- To develop critical skills for theological analysis of and creative engagement with current challenges and changes in the church and the world.
- To enhance practices of ministry through focused skill development, empowering capable leadership in parish and related contexts.
- To critically engage matters of faith, justice, and human difference in local and global contexts.
- To cultivate a willingness to lead, sustained via ongoing vocational discernment, self-awareness, and accountability with partners in ministry.
- To develop a life-long commitment to individual and communal spiritual practices, rooted in faith, hope, love, and justice.

The Master of Divinity is offered on two schedules:

Day,

designed to be completed in three years, and designed to be completed in four years. Students commit to one program for their full seminary career. The requirements for both programs are the same—75 academic credits, a roster of required courses, and a limited number of elective credits. The degree must be completed within 16 semesters (8 years) from the time of first registration.

Lancaster Theological Seminary strongly encourages all Master of Divinity students who are preparing for ordination to work closely with their faculty advisors and respective denominational representatives to assure that all academic requirements for ordination are met prior to graduation. The Seminary does not require the endorsement of relevant church bodies as a condition of admission or good standing in the program. Lancaster Seminary is committed to maintaining a close relationship with students and denominational leaders as candidates prepare for ordination. From the admissions evaluation through the Comprehensive Vocational Review process and subsequent advisement, the Seminary will assist all students intending to be ordained to meet denominational requirements.

MASTER OF DIVINITY PROGRAM REQUIRED COURSES AND COMPONENTS

Requirements for Graduation in the Master of Divinity Program, Day and Weekend schedules

Persons who have not earned a baccalaureate degree:

The Association of Theological Schools in the U.S. and Canada (ATS) permits the admittance into the Master of Divinity degree program only of persons who have not earned a baccalaureate degree or its educational equivalent, but who meet all other admissions criteria, provided that the total number of such students does not exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the total Master of Divinity student body (ATS, Standard A.4.2).

- Preference is given to applicants who have had some college education.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- At no time will the number of students without a baccalaureate degree exceed 15% of the Master of Divinity student body.
- Completed applications from persons in this category will be considered for admittance based on a schedule announced by the Admissions Office. Applications in this category will be considered in accordance with the ATS guidelines on a space-available basis for applicants who meet all other admissions requirements for the degree.
- Contact the Admissions Office for other specific admissions criteria and deadlines.
- Bachelor's Degree Educational Equivalent: Consideration to accept an equivalency to a baccalaureate degree is determined by the Dean of the Seminary and the Director of Admissions based upon review of official transcripts and work history confirmation, if applicable, sent directly to Lancaster Seminary by the institution at which credits were earned and/or work was performed. A cumulative GPA of 2.5 or higher is required (on a scale of 4.0).

Field Education:

Students are required to be engaged in Field Education placements in congregational, agency or institutional settings approved by the seminary. Each term of Field Education receives 0.5 academic credit.

- Internship: A year-long internship in a congregational, agency or institutional setting may be available to students who have successfully completed at least 24 credits and who want an immersion experience in a ministry setting. Permission of the Director of Field Education is required. In some instances, the faculty may require a student to undertake a year-long internship.
- Clinical Pastoral Education as Field Education Experience: CPE may serve as one of the student's two field education placements. See Sections 5 and 6.

Comprehensive Vocational Review (CVR):

An important component of the Master of Divinity program is the Comprehensive Vocational Review (CVR) evaluation of spiritual formation, learning, development and integration. The CVR is an opportunity for the student to examine and assess her or his progress in preparation for ministry and suitability for continuing in the program. At the conclusion of the CVR interview, a report is prepared by the faculty advisor that will include recommendations requiring follow-up and/or validation that the student should move forward in the program. The report becomes part of the student's portfolio. If the student is endorsed by a denomination, the seminary will provide the judicatory representative with a copy of the CVR report. It is the responsibility of the student to schedule the appropriate CVR in accordance with information and guidelines found in the CVR packet available on the seminary website.

- The CVR is to be undertaken after at least 24 credits and before 42 credits have been completed.
- The student is required to make available to participants a self-assessment paper, current transcript, field education evaluations and other documents as required well-ahead of the scheduled CVR meeting.
- The above documents are shared during a meeting with an interview committee that includes the student, faculty advisor, ministerial guide, a judicatory representative and a student peer.
- If the CVR has not been undertaken by the time the student has completed 60 credits, the student must seek permission from the Dean of Students in order to register for additional courses.

International Cross-Cultural Seminar [MS400S]

(See also, Appendix IV for Educational Goals, Requirements, Learning Objectives Exceptions and Alternates)

- In light of the value placed on the appreciation of others, a goal of the MDiv program is that students experience and reflect on social and economic otherness (e.g., poverty, wealth); national and cultural otherness (e.g., another country with a primary language different from one's own); racial and ethnic otherness (e.g., situations where Euro-American culture is not dominant); ideological otherness (e.g., different theological and political convictions); and ecclesiastical otherness (e.g., different pieties, liturgies, polities, mission emphases). Such experience and reflection are to include what such otherness means for oneself personally and vocationally, and also for the church, its nature, vocation and ministry.
- An important means to achieve an appreciation of social, political, economic and ecclesial otherness is the International Cross-Cultural Seminar, an intensive encounter in a Latin American, Middle Eastern, African, Asian or Eastern European setting, in accordance with the guidelines of the Seminary and the commitment of the faculty.

- Lancaster Seminary sponsors at least one approved two- to three-week International Cross-Cultural Seminar each May. The International Cross-Cultural requirement is comprised of three parts:
 - Meetings of preparation in the semester immediately prior to the Seminar,
 - The Seminar itself, usually in May, and
 - Meetings of reflection, debriefing culminating in the submission of a final assignment in the semester immediately following the Seminar and a presentation to the seminary community by the Cross-Cultural group. Preparation and reflection meetings may be in the form of classroom time or retreats at the discretion of the coordinator of the Cross-Cultural Seminar.
- Registering for the Cross-Cultural Component: Students will register for the International Cross-Cultural (MS 400S) in the term prior to the trip.
 - Upon registering for MS 400S, the student should be prepared to submit a photocopy of the photo page of his or her valid passport to the Administrative Assistant to the Faculty. Registration for MS 400S will not be valid until this documentation has been submitted.
 - It is recommended that Master of Divinity students begin the process of renewing or applying for and obtaining passports as early as their first year of study to avoid delays in preparing for the seminar. Passports are valid for a period of 10 years.
 - If the photocopy of the photo page of a valid passport has not been submitted by the time airline tickets are scheduled to be purchased or other travel arrangements are to be made, the student's name will be removed from the roster of MS400S, and travel arrangements may not be made on behalf of that student.
 - The cost of the Cross-Cultural Seminar is included in the student's flat-fee billing. Students are responsible for paying additional costs for personal expenditures prior to and during the trip (such as, but not limited to, passports, medications and immunizations or vaccinations specifically for the trip, insurance, personal care items, snacks, souvenirs, etc.).

Participation by Students in Other Lancaster Seminary Programs:

Upon authorization of the Dean of the Seminary and depending upon space available, students in other Lancaster Seminary degree programs may request to participate in the Cross-Cultural Seminar under the following conditions:

- The student must participate in all segments of the Cross-Cultural Seminar, including meetings of preparation and meetings of post-trip reflection.
- Upon registration, the student is required to include a deposit of one-half (1/2) of the prevailing Cross-Cultural Seminar Fee, with the balance due no later than 30 days immediately prior to the Cross-Cultural trip.
- All other policies and provisions regarding the Cross-Cultural apply.

Alternate Cross-Cultural Seminar Request:

In light of serious medical or familial issues, or similar extenuating circumstances, a student may, after consultation with his/her advisor, approval by the disabilities coordinator and the global theological education advisor, submit a written proposal for an alternate Seminar no later than

- November 15 for persons planning to meet the requirement the following Summer.
- The proposal must meet the goals and objectives for the Cross-Cultural requirement. The proposal should include:
 - a physician's assessment and recommendation that the student not participate;
 - a description of the alternative plan;
 - explanation of how each of the above-stated objectives can be accomplished;
 - explanation of how each of the above-listed qualities and components will be included;
 - a description of the educational, vocational and personal rationale for the alternate trip.
- The alternative experience is to be the student's responsibility and is to be equivalent to a seminary-sponsored seminar in scope, objectives and components.

Steps in the approval process for an Alternate Cross Cultural Seminar

- Approval of the Disabilities Coordinator to submit an alternate proposal
- Submission of a formal alternative that addresses the learning requirements of this aspect of the degree; done in collaboration with the Global Theological Education Advisor
- Approval of the alternative by the Global Theological Education Advisor
- Submission of the approval to the Dean of the Seminary
- Upon written approval by the Dean of the Seminary, the registrar will process the registration.

Financing the seminar is a common burden and not normally considered grounds for an exception.

NOTE: Approval of one seminarian's proposal for a specific alternative does not constitute precedent for another seminarian to obtain approval for the same alternative. Each proposal is treated as unique, and each alternative is re-evaluated after the fact. In rare cases, upon recommendation by one's faculty advisor, an opportunity within the USA may be considered, provided that all of the other qualities and components, including "otherness," can be assured in ample measure.

Waiving a Required Course:

Occasionally students have had prior study or experience in an area for which a course is required. In order to avoid redundancy in study, it is possible to request a waiver for a required course. To waive a required course or to arrange for a substitute requirement, a student must

- Complete a REQUIREMENT WAIVER FORM (available on the Seminary website).
- Secure the signature of the faculty advisor as well as a faculty member responsible for the area in which the course is taught.
- Submit the completed and signed form to the registrar for processing.
- Waiving a required course does not reduce the number of credit hours required for graduation.
- In certain circumstances it may be appropriate for a student to waive a required course by arranging a substitute course. The substituted course must be successfully completed before the request for waiver will be considered.
- In cases in which substantial alterations of course requirements are called for, a proposal of alternate study is worked out among the student, the faculty advisor and the Dean of the seminary. The merits of previous experience and study are evaluated in terms of their equivalency to the requirements.
- Because waivers are related to specific circumstances, the granting of a waiver should not be regarded as a precedent.

SECTION 14 – MASTER OF ARTS (RELIGION) PROGRAM and MASTER OF ARTS (MINISTRY AND LEADERSHIP) PROGRAM is a graduate degree for persons who, having completed a baccalaureate degree, now seek advanced study in religion as an aid to their vocational, spiritual and intellectual development.

The Master of Arts (Religion)

Fundamental to the Master of Arts (Religion) program is the understanding that there are many callings other than ordained ministry for which individuals may wish to prepare. Thus, the Master of Arts (Religion) is designed as a flexible degree program that is adaptable to the personal goals and particular occupational needs of committed laypersons who are not seeking ordination

Students who pursue the MA(R) may include persons who are discerning their vocational direction, and are eager to explore whatever "calling" they may have through a course of theological study. It is not unusual for students entering the Master of Arts program to decide to apply for admittance into the Master of Divinity program at a later date. Others may be clear that they will not pursue ordination, but are seeking further study, either as a means of personal enrichment or as a preparatory step for advanced graduate studies in religion. Some may be preparing for commissioned, licensed, or some other form of non-ordained recognized ministry, such as educational ministries and ministries of music or social service. Still others may be those who are already ordained, or soon will be, and serve in denominations for which no formal theological education is required. These persons complete the Master of Arts (Religion) program, structuring their courses of study to strengthen the ministries in which they are engaged.

The MA(R) program seeks to [1] provide religious insights and training, both practical and theoretical, for those wishing to pursue non-ordained, church-related occupations; [2] prepare persons who want to undertake careers and roles informed by religious commitment and perspectives; and [3] provide a means through which individuals may seek religious knowledge or probe questions of personal religious concern.

While the program allows a student to undertake a broad-based study in the traditional theological disciplines, it also provides the opportunity to concentrate in one or more fields of special interest. Each candidate for the Master of Arts (Religion) is expected to work closely with a faculty advisor in designing a course of study appropriate to his or her stated goals.

Students in the Master of Arts (Religion) degree program who continue full-time study may be assured that the basic requirements for completing the degree, as set forth in this handbook, will remain the same until graduation. The degree must be completed within 12 semesters (6 years).

Requirements for Graduation in the Master of Arts (Religion) Program include the successful completion of 52 academic credits, including the following curricular and program requirements:

- 12 credits must be completed according to the following distribution:
 - 3 credits from the Biblical Field (BI, OT or NT courses), excluding biblical languages;
 - 3 credits from the Historical Field (CH courses), excluding courses in denominational polity;
 - 3 credits from the Theology and Ethics Field (TH courses);
 - 3 credits from the field of Church Life and Work (EM, PH, PL PT, RS, WP, SD or WR courses)
- An additional 12 credits must be completed in the area of the student's chosen concentration.
- Completion of MA100: Theological Studies Foundational Seminar [3 credits]
- Completion of MA300: Master of Arts (Religion) Capstone Project (a Capstone Project fee will be charged upon registration for MA300) [3 credits]
- Submission of a portfolio consisting of four representative projects from the student's course of study: one each from the biblical, historical, theology and ethics, and church life and work fields
- The remaining credits to reach 52 may be chosen according to the student's vocational goals, occupation or interests.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

Collegium –

Each term MAML cohorts will gather with an assigned Ministerial Guide to perform theological reflection, inviting students to integrate their theological studies, theological positions, and pastoral leadership.

Theology of Ministry Capstone Project –

The Capstone Project constitutes a required component of the Master of Arts in Ministry and Leadership (MAML) curriculum. Students receive 1.5 academic credits for this project. The Project entails a fee (see current Fee Sheet).

The Capstone Project serves as the culmination of degree studies. It includes two key components: a review of students' ability to integrate seminary studies in their theology, understanding of the church and its ministry, and their own functioning as a leader; and a research project, supervised by a member of the faculty, demonstrating their ability to engage in on-going ministerial development.

In their final year of study, students will work with their academic advisors to complete each of these components.

By October 1, students submit two completed documents to their academic advisors:

- MAML Theological Integration Form
- MAML Capstone Research Proposal Form

By the end of Term 1, students will meet with their academic advisor and MAML program advisor to assess the students' theological integration and to approve the research proposal. If the academic advisor is the same person as the program advisor, the Dean of the Seminary will appoint an additional faculty member to participate in this meeting. This meeting should be scheduled by the student, with the approval of their project supervisor, and will last 1.5-2 hours.

By the end of Term 2, students will submit their completed research projects to their project supervisor and academic advisor. The project will demonstrate students' ability to

- identify an important problem or need within ministerial leadership;
- articulate the rationale for pursuing this problem and reflect theologically on its significance;
- conduct additional research on the problem, demonstrated through an annotated bibliography of 4-6 appropriate academic and professional resources;
- draw conclusions from one's experience and research;
- offer practical suggestions for how these conclusions can be integrated into the practices of ministry;
- suggest a path for on-going development in this area of ministry.

The Project may take the form of a document or be offered in another format (e.g., curriculum, blog, artwork, handbook). In scale, it represents the equivalent of 12-15 pages of academic work (3000-3750 words) or 30 hours of work. All Capstone Projects must include a written discursive component, in which the student articulates the theological rationale for the project and sets forth its outcomes or findings.

Questions regarding the degree program should be addressed to the MAML degree advisor.

SECTION 15 – NON-DEGREE GRADUATE STUDIES

Unclassified Status:

Unclassified Status is designed for persons who have earned a baccalaureate degree and who would like to increase their knowledge of a particular subject without pursuing a degree; or those who need time to decide on a particular degree program.

- A maximum of eighteen (18) credits may be taken in Unclassified status.
- Academic credits earned may be transferable into a master's program at Lancaster Seminary in accordance with transfer policies set forth in Section 4.
- Students in Unclassified status may be taking face-to-face or hybrid classes.

Special Student Status:

Special Students status is designed for students in good academic and financial standing in a degree program at another ATS-accredited institution who desire to supplement their studies with a course at Lancaster Seminary. Acceptance applies only to course, term and year specified on the application.

Special Student-Eastern Mennonite Seminary, Lancaster Extension:

By special arrangement with Eastern Mennonite Seminary's Lancaster Campus, students matriculated in graduate theological studies at EMS may apply and register for courses offered by Lancaster Theological Seminary according to Lancaster Seminary's normal policies and procedures for admission of Special Students. Eastern Mennonite Seminary students are permitted to take more than one course at Lancaster Seminary.

Certificate in Theological Studies:

This certificate is designed for part-time study over two to three years or full-time study over one year. Academic credits earned are transferable into a master's program at Lancaster Seminary for students who hold a baccalaureate degree (some restrictions apply).

The course of study includes completion of eighteen (18) credits, the equivalent of six (6) three-credit courses, including the following:

- 3 credits in Biblical Studies (BI, OT or NT courses)
- 3 credits in Church History
- 3 credits in Theology
- 3 credits in Practical Theology (Religious Education, Pastoral Leadership, Pastoral Theology, Spiritual Development, Worship, Preaching, or Youth Ministry).
- 6 credits of electives

Bachelor's degree or bachelor's equivalent required for admission.

SECTION 16 - DOCTOR OF MINISTRY PROGRAM

The Doctor of Ministry degree (DMin) is designed to enable qualified religious professionals to advance in competency to a high level of performance in the practice of ministry and to improve the profession as a whole through systematic study and research. The program is integrated closely with the practice of ministry, and participants are expected to fulfill the requirements of the degree while continuing their regular practice in a congregation or other place of ministry.

The program enables competent religious professionals to become more proficient in exercising their vocational skills and in integrating theological learning with the practice of ministry by:

- Shaping their practice intentionally;
- Sharing learning and research with colleagues;
- Contributing to the development of a more effective profession.

The DMin is a hybrid program, combining face to face intensives with online learning. Students must take significant responsibility for pacing their work and are expected to initiate contact with advisors, consultants and other faculty members throughout their course of study.

Degree Goals

Student learning goals for this degree are:

- To undertake research leading to new knowledge and/or resources for the practice of ministry.
- To advance their competency to a higher level of performance in the practice of ministry.
- To develop a capacity for critical appraisal of how they themselves function as religious leaders.
- To demonstrate the capacity to think both within and outside their own traditions while engaging the big questions.
 - Big questions for Semester 1
 - What does it mean to be human? What is needed for human flourishing?
 - Big questions for Semester 2
 - Is God One? How wide is God's Mercy?
 - Big questions for Semester 3
 - What is the nature of power? How much agency do humans exercise?

Exception to the 3-Year Rule.

Up to twenty percent (20%) of students in the degree program may be enrolled without the requisite three years of ministry experience at the time of admission if they demonstrate the level of competence and reflection appropriate for advanced, professional ministerial studies (ATS, Standard E.4.3). To be considered for such admission, applicants must meet the following criteria:

- They must have been engaged in consistent professional ministry during the five years immediately prior to application.
- They are further required to submit their best example of written theological reflection on the practice of ministry for assessment by the Admissions Committee, including the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee.

Master of Divinity Equivalency Criteria:

Admission to the DMin program requires an MDiv degree, or its educational equivalent from an institution accredited by The ATS (ATS, Standard E.4.2). Lancaster Theological Seminary employs the following template to determine whether an applicant who does not currently hold an accredited MDiv degree has met the minimum number of master's-level courses and hours to qualify for MDiv equivalency. Ministerial experience alone is not considered the equivalent of or a substitute for the master's degree.

- To be considered for MDiv equivalency in Lancaster Theological Seminary's DMin program an applicant must have earned at least 56 master's-level credit hours along with significant ministerial leadership.
- Significant ministerial leadership is defined as at least three years of professional ministry.
- Additionally, instruction in the following areas must constitute part of that 56 credits:
 - Bible - 6 credits (2 courses)
 - 3 credits in Introduction to New Testament
 - 3 credits in Introduction to Old Testament/Hebrew Bible

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- Theology – 6 credits (2 courses)
 - 3 credits in Theology
 - 3 credits in Ethics or a related elective
- Practical Theology - 6 credits (2 courses)
 - including pastoral care, pastoral counseling, worship, preaching, religious education
- If it is determined that the applicant's educational background does not meet the equivalent of an MDiv, the DMin program will designate specific "leveling courses" as a pathway to gain equivalency.
 - The meeting of MDiv equivalent does not result in the conferral of the MDiv degree. Its sole purpose is to qualify the applicant for admission to the DMin program.
 - Regular per-credit tuition will be charged for credits needed for leveling courses.
- The DMin Committee Chair, in consultation with the faculty, will evaluate the applicant's previous study and report the findings directly to the applicant. The MDiv equivalent evaluation will yield one of three possible results:
 - 18 credit hours or less of leveling work required: Applicants with 18 credit hours or less of required leveling work to be completed may be granted permission to begin the DMin program, depending upon the extent of their previous theological course work. Their status in the program remains 'provisional' until all leveling courses are completed.
 - 19-30 credit hours of leveling work required: Applicants with 19 to 30 credit hours of leveling work to be completed may proceed with the application process, but they will not be permitted to begin program coursework until they have reduced the balance of required leveling work to 18 credit hours or less.
 - More than 30 credit hours of leveling work to be completed: If the applicant needs more than 30 credit hours of leveling work to achieve MDiv equivalent, s/he is ordinarily considered ineligible for the DMin program.

Requirements for Graduation in the Doctor of Ministry Program:

Upon recommendation of the faculty and final approval of the Board of Trustees, the Doctor of Ministry degree is awarded when all appropriate program requirements are fulfilled.

- Successful Completion of all Components of the Degree and 30 Academic Credits including 12 credits in required courses; 9 credits in elective courses; 9 credits for the Major Project
- In the year in which a student plans to graduate information concerning matters related to commencement and submitting the final copy of the Major Project for publication will be provided.
- All degrees are awarded at the annual Commencement in May.
- No degree or diploma will be awarded unless all of a student's accounts with the seminary are paid in full.
 - Doctor of Ministry Spiritual Retreat: This retreat is generally the 6th day of the Semester 1 intensive. Students who entered prior to 2016 are required to attend each year. Students entering in 2016 and onward are required to attend during their first two years, and may attend in subsequent years.
 - Doctor of Ministry Symposium: The purpose of the DMin Symposium, usually held in early April, is to recognize the contributions our doctoral students make to ministry and provide a context for the presentation of Doctoral Projects by candidates preparing for spring graduation. Annual attendance at the Doctor of Ministry Symposium is required for all students, either in person or electronically.
 - For students who entered the program prior to 2016, three gatherings are scheduled each year for students who have completed their required seminars. Students will provide an update on their Major Projects and offer one another mutual support. These are normally scheduled in November, February, and July. The fall and spring gatherings are mandatory; the summer gathering is optional. Specific dates are provided annually.
 - Requests to be excused from the Retreat, the Symposium, or the fall and spring post-seminar gatherings must be submitted in writing to the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee. Unexcused absences will result in a review by the DMin Committee of the student's standing in the program.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

Residency Requirement:

In the first two years of their program, candidates must attend the Semester 1 and Semester 2 intensives on campus in their entirety.

Progress Toward Completion of the Degree:

If there is an indication that a student is not making satisfactory academic progress toward completion of a degree (for example, failing any course or component of the curriculum), the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee, in consultation with the student's advisor and the student, may make a recommendation to the faculty members of the Doctor of Ministry Committee. They may take action, including:

- suspension pending satisfactory completion of remedial steps, such as tutoring, special course work or counseling; or
- dismissal.
- A student has a right to appeal a decision of the faculty according to the policy and procedure set forth in Section 9.

Duration and Time Required to Complete the Degree:

The DMin program combines academic study with ongoing practice of ministry and is designed to be completed in three years. A fourth year will normally be granted if the Major Project Consultation has been successfully completed and there is evidence of the will and ability to complete the project within one year.

- A Continuation Fee set by the Board of Trustees will be charged quarterly when the program continues into a fourth year. A Technology Fee and Student Activity Fee will be charged in August and February while a student continues in the program.
- Students approaching the end of their fourth year in the program who desire a continuation may make a request in writing to the Doctor of Ministry Committee for a one-year continuation.
- The degree is to be completed within 5 academic years from the time of first registration.
 - Continuation beyond the fifth year to complete the Major Project may be granted only by special action of the Doctor of Ministry Committee.
 - The student must submit a written request to the Chair of the DMin Committee stating sufficient reason for the extension and proposing a revised time table for the completion of the project.
- Following successful completion of all academic credits and components of the degree, a letter certifying that the student has earned the degree may be requested in writing, for use until the diploma is presented at the following commencement.

Advising:

The Vice President of Academic Affairs and Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee will assign advisors to students at the start of their program.

The student is expected to initiate contact with the advisor for counsel and guidance throughout the course of study.

- The student must consult the advisor for clearance for registration; approval for registration changes, directed studies, requesting extensions, waiving a requirement, requesting a continuation in the program, requesting a leave of absence and any other academic or disciplinary matter.
- No later than during the required course, "Major Project Proposal Preparation," the Vice President of Academic Affairs in consultation with the student and the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee, will assign a Project Supervisor to guide and assist the student in preparing for the Major Project Consultation. In addition to the advising duties noted above, the Project Supervisor will:
 - Assist in the preparation of the Major Project Proposal;
 - Attend the Major Project Consultation in person or electronically;
 - Guide the student during the research and writing of the Major Project;
 - Approve the student for graduation;
 - Aid the student in preparing for the public presentation of the Major Project at the Doctor of Ministry Symposium;
 - Sign off on the final version of the Major Project in preparation for its publication via ProQuest

Transfer of Doctor of Ministry Credits:

Whether the student is coming into the DMin program at Lancaster Seminary from another institution or is a Lancaster Seminary doctoral student taking courses at another institution, credits carrying a grade of "B" (grade point value of 3.0 on a 0-4 scale) or better generally may be transferred provided that the transfer credits requested were earned in a post-master's degree program from an accredited theological institution; have not been applied to another degree already received; were not earned more than ten years prior to anticipated graduation; are appropriate for the Doctor of Ministry degree program; are approved by the Doctor of Ministry Committee, based on these and other transfer of credit policies. (See also Section 4.).

- To request that up to six (6) elective credits be transferred into the program, the student must petition the Doctor of Ministry Committee in writing.
- Students who have completed an accredited advanced training program in American Association of Pastoral Counselors (AAPC), the American Association of Marriage and Family Therapists (AAMFT) or Association of Clinical Pastoral Education (ACPE) may request to transfer up to six (6) elective credits toward the Doctor of Ministry program.
- See Payment of Tuition and Fees in this section for the policy regarding tuition adjustments for transfer credits.

Withdrawal or Leave of Absence from the Doctor of Ministry Program or Separation from the Seminary:

In addition to the policies and procedures outlined in Section 4, the following policies and procedures must be followed for withdrawal or to request a Leave of Absence from the Doctor of Ministry program.

- Withdrawal
 - The student is responsible for notifying the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee in writing of his or her intent to withdraw from the program.
 - Billing of tuition and continuation and other fees will continue and the student will be responsible for payments unless and until the proper notification is on file.
 - Students who withdraw from the program are expected to complete payment at the time of withdrawal for all credits taken.
 - All payments and procedures must be completed before transcripts will be released.
- Leave of Absence
 - The student is responsible for submitting a written request for a Leave of Absence for up to one year to the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee.
 - The Chair will notify the student in writing of the Committee's decision regarding a Leave of Absence.
 - If approved, billing is suspended during the Leave of Absence period.
 - In preparation for returning from a Leave of Absence, the student is to meet with the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee prior to the start of the semester in which the student returns.
 - Return from Leave of Absence will not be approved until payment of all bills is up to date.
- Federal Stafford loan borrowers: See Sections 4 and 6 for information on the policies regulating loan funds of students who leave seminary studies.

Tuition and Fees

are set by the Board of Trustees each year and the prevailing tuition and fees may be found on the Fee Schedule posted on the Seminary website. Tuition and fees for the Doctor of Ministry program include:

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- Situational fees such as those related to late registration, directed study, overdue balance, course extension, etc.
- Incidental costs and fees and/or travel related to outside readers, adjunct faculty, Supervisory Committees or consultants are the responsibility of the student, and these costs will not appear on your Lancaster Seminary statement.
- See also Student Financial Responsibility - Section 6.

Payment of Tuition and Fees:

Payment is expected no later than the date noted on the statement, even if the candidate is not taking courses during the semester.

- Persons who exceed three years to complete the program are expected to complete payment of tuition according to the three-year schedule.
- Tuition adjustment for credits transferred into the program at the time of admission or later during the program, as approved by the Doctor of Ministry Committee, will normally be made in the form of adjustments to payments 9 through 11. The amount of the adjustment will be based on the per credit tuition rate current at the time the adjustment is made and will not exceed six credit hours.
- If payment is not received by the date of the next billing, and alternate payment arrangements are not made, the Business Office will notify the Dean of the Seminary; the student may not be permitted to continue in the program until the previous balance is paid in full.
- After two missed payments, a candidate may be placed on administrative leave for up to one year, or until payments have been completed or a formal payment arrangement has been made through the Business Office.
- A student whose circumstances make this tuition payment plan impossible is responsible for making alternate payment arrangements with the Business Office.

Components of the Doctor of Ministry Degree:

The components of the degree build on the previous study and experience of the student.

- Required Courses

(3 credits each for a total of 12 credits) These courses are taught in hybrid fashion; each has a required face to face intensive on campus as well as online components before and after.

- Listening as an Act of Love (Semester 1, year 1): Listening has the potential to transform both the listener and the one being heard; it is an act of love. This course uses ethnographic methodology to create rich opportunities for sharing stories and strengthening interpersonal relationships between individuals and among groups. Students engage in pastoral interviews and life story collection in their ministry settings, gradually enhancing their skills.
- America's Changing Religious Landscape (Semester 2, year 1): This course examines the fundamental shifts in society and culture that have occurred in the last few decades and have produced a radically altered environment for the Christian faith.
- Issues of ideological and religious pluralism, multiple value systems, hybrid spirituality, fluid personal identities, economic polarization, and global cross-pollination will be considered, with an eye to their implications for Christian life and ministry.
- Developing Leaders and Cultivating Partnerships (Semester 1, year 2): Effective leaders are familiar with an array of emerging leadership models and are continuously developing their repertoire of practical leadership skills. This course includes an exploration of organizational dynamics and contemporary notions of leadership.
- Projects will help students deepen their understanding of their ministry settings and expand their range of context-specific leadership approaches and tools. Throughout, partnerships will be emphasized, both within and beyond organizational boundaries.
- Major Project Proposal Preparation (Semester 2, year 2): This course will guide students in the preparation of their Major Project Proposals. Students will identify a suitable topic or area of research, clearly frame their research questions, develop a rationale and methodology appropriate to investigating it, and articulate its anticipated contribution to the wider practice of ministry. Students will assist their peers throughout the course in the design, content, and format of the final project. During the on-campus intensive, students (in most cases) will have opportunity to meet with their Major Project Supervisors.

- Elective Courses

(3 credits each for a total of 9 credits) Students normally choose one elective in each of their first three semesters in the program.

- Courses Designed for DMin students. The courses listed below will be designed for DMin students, offered only in hybrid format with an on campus intensive and distance interaction before and after the intensive. Most of these courses will also be open to interested pastors with MDivs and to MDiv students who have taken the necessary prerequisites.

- Theological Improv (Semester 1): How do we share Christianity's good news in intelligible and attractive ways in rapidly changing cultural contexts? This course considers a variety of rhetorical styles, strategies of communication, and conceptual frameworks to enhance one's ability to think theologically "on one's feet." Conversation between inherited Christian formulations and contemporary sensibilities and questions facilitates engagement with those who have never been church.
- Living and Dying Well (Semester 1): As many are living longer than previous generations, this course examines sociological dimensions of being elderly, the ongoing and distinctive gifts of elders, and the creating and maintaining of inter-generational communities. It further addresses the distinctive pastoral needs of these populations and theological frameworks guiding such issues as the spiritual care of persons across the spectrum of dementia; supporting those moving into institutional living; collaboration with community services, medical personnel, and chaplains; faith-based end of life decision making; issues of forgiveness at the end of life; curative and palliative care and hospice; pastoral presence during life-threatening illness, dying, at the time of death, and in bereavement; and theological reflection on death.

- What Happens When All Are Welcome? (Semester 2): Many communities say that all are welcome but genuine openness to the needs of everyone requires keen attentiveness on the part of leaders and community members. This course will explore what it means to be responsive to race/ethnicity, socioeconomic location, gender, sexual orientation, ability, theology, vocation and other forms of diversity as we foster community.
 - Sustaining a Spiritual Life in the 21st Century (Semester 2): Do you find it difficult to grow spiritually? Understanding what is happening to us spiritually takes patience, discipline, self-awareness, and grace. There are no shortcuts. God invites us to draw closer in a variety of ways, even in times of spiritual fatigue, confusion, temptation, and over-stimulation. This class will explore these challenges and ways in which historical and contemporary writers on the spiritual life have responded to them.
 - Where Theology and Strategic Planning Meet (Semester 1, to be offered starting in 2017): The Bible has a lot to say about money and your budget says a lot about your faith. Is your money going where your perceived mission says it should? This course seeks to cultivate theologically-inspired financial practices for congregations and non-profit institutions to enable medium- and long-term focus on goals beyond what is financially urgent. It will increase students' familiarity and comfort levels with financial planning, reading financial documents, fundraising, and grant-writing.
 - Forming Faith in an Internet World (Semester 1, to be offered starting in 2017 or 2018): How does religious education capitalize on the ways people learn to live, think and believe in the contemporary world? This course seeks to cultivate innovative educational practices that engage such modes as social networking, texting, blogging and playing online games, as well as the insights of cultural critics, social and natural sciences, and artistic creativity.
- Additional Elective Opportunities
 - DMin students may take many of the seminary's masters-level electives with additional work to be negotiated with the professor.
 - Directed Study: Up to six (6) credits of elective courses may be taken as Directed Study. The procedures outlined in Section 5 should be followed when requesting a Directed Study. To request a Directed Study, the student must:
 - ❖ Clearly identify the topic and submit a proposal for directed study
 - ❖ Submit a draft proposal to the requested professor well in advance of the term in which it is requested. Submission of a proposal does not guarantee approval of the proposal.

- ❖ Submit to the registrar the completed and signed DIRECTED STUDY PROPOSAL form (available on the Seminary website), along with all supporting documentation. Forms that are not signed or accompanied by the requested documentation will be returned to the student.
- ❖ All directed studies are subject to the approval of the Vice President of Academic Affairs.
- Engagement with “Big Questions”

In each of the first three semesters of a student’s program, in the context of both required and elective courses, a student must engage significant human and religious questions:

 - What does it mean to be human? What is needed for human flourishing? (Semester 1, year 1)
 - Is God one? How wide is God’s mercy? (Semester 2, year 1)
 - What is the nature of power? How much agency do human beings exercise? (Semester 1, year 2)
- Major Project Proposal and Major Project Consultation:

The student will complete the Major Project Proposal in the required course, Major Project Proposal Preparation. Upon approval of the Major Project Supervisor, it is the responsibility of the student to schedule the Major Project Consultation.

 - The Consultation is attended by the student, the Project Supervisor and a faculty member of the Doctor of Ministry Committee, who conducts the Consultation.
 - Copies of the Major Project Proposal should be distributed to the Chair of the Doctor of Ministry Committee and all who will attend the Major Project Consultation at least two weeks prior to the scheduled consultation.
 - Major projects that include research with human subjects may be required to receive approval from the Institutional Review Board (IRB) of Franklin & Marshall College. The Consultation committee will make a recommendation regarding seeking this approval.
 - A format for the Major Project Consultation is available on the Doctor of Ministry page of the seminary website.
 - Upon satisfactory completion of the Major Project Consultation, the faculty member chairing the consultation writes a letter, with copy to the registrar, advising the student of the outcome of the Consultation and summarizing any recommendations. The student is permitted to begin the research and writing phase of the program.
 - It is important that students recognize that a satisfactory outcome of the Major Project Consultation represents an expression of confidence in the student’s ability to complete the degree. If, however, after several drafts of the Major Project Proposal, it appears that no further progress is being made, the student may be asked to withdraw from the program.
 - Likewise, failure to make timely progress toward completion of the project will require a careful assessment of the student’s ability to complete the degree.
- Major Project

(9 credits) The Major Project is a focused document that serves as the culmination of the degree. It will be published through ProQuest. It should normally follow the outline submitted in the Major Project Proposal. However, in the process of the research and writing, the candidate, in consultation with the Project Supervisor, may find that some changes in the proposed outline are appropriate or even necessary. The Major Project should demonstrate the student’s ability to:

 - conceptualize an important problem or issue in ministry;
 - articulate a rationale for the significance of the project;
 - hypothesize probable findings and conclusions, when appropriate;
 - show familiarity with and an understanding of the literature applicable to the research area and its pertinence to the chosen topic and engage in conversation with that literature throughout the project;
 - utilize a method appropriate for the issue under consideration and be able to justify its pertinence;
 - reflect theologically on the central issue of the project;
 - offer suggestions for further research.
 - Final Format of the Project Report: Though each report will have its own unique content and format, the following major sections are to be included in the final report:
 - a 100-word abstract of the project’s main theme;
 - theological rationale and reflection;
 - major goals of the research project;

- research method(s) employed;
 - analysis of conclusions and application to ministry;
 - a comprehensive bibliography.
 - The final report is expected to address clearly its intended audience (i.e., peers in ministry, educated laity). It should review and critically analyze the primary results of the research with an emphasis on how the learning involved enhances the practice of ministry. The desired length of the final written document is between 100 and 150 typed, double-spaced pages, exclusive of appendices, bibliography, etc. With the approval of the Project Supervisor, the length of the document may vary given the nature of the project.
- Major Project Presentation:

Upon approval of the final draft of the Major Project by the Project Supervisor, each candidate is required to make a public presentation of the project at the DMin Symposium. Candidates are encouraged to be creative in their presentations in keeping with the nature of the project and the style best suited for sharing the contributions of their research with colleagues. The following areas of discussion should be included:

 - How did you become interested in the project and why do you believe it is important?
 - What is the basic research question or assertion at the core of the project?

 - What were the research procedures and/or creative strategies used to produce your Major Project and why were they chosen?
 - What are your central findings or insights?
 - Are you able to identify areas that would merit further research?
 - How do you see the project contributing to church and society?
 - How has the project enhanced your practice of ministry (e.g., preaching, pastoral care, leadership, teaching, etc.)?
 - How has the project influenced your vocational development in ministry (e.g., ministerial identity, sense of mission, etc.)?
 - The presentation of the doctoral project is not given a grade, but all in attendance are asked to complete an evaluation form. It is understood that the candidate may wish to utilize feedback from the presentation and the evaluations in the form of corrections, clarifications, additions or ideas for further research. In consultation with the Project Supervisor, these may be included in the draft of the doctoral project report prior to submitting the final copy for publication. Any revisions should be made, reviewed, and approved by the Project Supervisor within 2 weeks of the Symposium.
 - Final Copy and Abstract of the Major Project:

The student will receive instructions on submitting the final document for publication from the Chair of the DMin Committee or the Seminary Librarian. Please pay special attention to the deadlines for this process, set forth in the section on Timelines and Deadlines, below, since it must be completed before the degree can be granted.

In order to be on track to receive the diploma at a given commencement service, the following time line must be observed, beginning with Semester 1 prior to the date of graduation:

- OCTOBER 1 Apply for graduation according to the deadlines posted by the registrar.
- NOVEMBER 1 Full draft of the Major Project must be submitted to the Project Supervisor.

Final Student Evaluation:

Each Doctor of Ministry student will receive a Final Student Evaluation form at the conclusion of each course taken. This form provides an assessment of abilities that are correlated with skills and aptitudes expected of doctoral students. See Sample Final Student Evaluation Form.

- A copy of the final evaluation submitted by the instructor will be distributed to the student, the student's advisor and the registrar for the student's academic file.

Determination of Satisfactory Academic Progress:

A Doctor of Ministry student is considered to be making satisfactory progress toward the degree if

- a grade of B or better is achieved in each course taken during the first two years of the program;
- the completion of the Major Project is on schedule in year 3 (or years 3 and 4);
- annually attends DMin retreat (years 1 and 2 for students entering in 2016 or later) and Doctor of Ministry Symposium (in person or electronically).

Areas needing further attention and effort, with suggestions: (some examples follow) Consistently turning in assignments late disrupted the learning process, especially when you did not have an assignment prepared that was being used in class on the day it was due. Perhaps you need to take a look at how you are organizing your time.

You were a little timid in your critique of ideas, though when you did "take on" an idea, you often showed good insight. Keep working at constructive criticism of ideas, drawing on your own strengths in the area of learning from your practice.

Areas showing special strengths: (some examples follow)

Your work was strongest when you were relating theory to practice. It seems important to you to have concrete examples...you did an especially nice job of using illustrations from your experience to illuminate the theoretical materials we studied.

Your sensitivity to others' feelings and opinions in the group helped to stimulate open discussion.

Prevention of Sexual Assault and Rape

Lancaster Theological Seminary uses a number of means to prevent sexual assault and rape including: Encouraging students to inform themselves about crime prevention techniques, such as those offered by the City of Lancaster Police Department;

Encouraging students to make use of the public safety resources, such as escorts/concierges provided the Business Office.

Responding to Sexual Assault and Rape

Since Lancaster Theological Seminary maintains a Business Office, all violations of the law involving sexual assault or rape should be reported immediately to the Business Office for further investigation by the City of Lancaster Police Department's rape unit.

Incidents of sexual assault and rape should also be reported to the Dean, or any other senior administrator of Lancaster Theological Seminary. Students are not required to report incidents to the Police Department or District Attorney, although they are encouraged to do so. Lancaster Theological Seminary officials will honor requests for confidentiality by the student alleging sexual assault or rape, but shall report anonymous information to the Business Office, so that incident can be included in Lancaster Theological Seminary crime statistics.

If an incident is reported to a Lancaster Theological Seminary official, the official shall inform the student of her or his right to inform the Lancaster Police Department or District Attorney. The student shall also be informed of the importance of preserving evidence required for proof of possible criminal activity, and of the availability of school officials to assist the student in notifying authorities of the incident, upon student's request.

Victims of sexual assault and rape may request that Lancaster Theological Seminary change academic and living situations. Lancaster Theological Seminary will change those situations if it is able to do so and if the changes requested by the victim are reasonably available.

Finally, the student shall be informed of counseling, mental health and other services: Lancaster YWCA Sexual Assault Prevention & Counseling Center 24 hour Hotline:

Procedures for Disciplinary Action in the Case of Sexual Assault and Rape

When a student reports being sexually assaulted or raped by another student, the Dean shall conduct a timely investigation of the allegations in the case, including interviewing any witnesses as needed. The decision to proceed with charges in a sexual assault or rape case is a joint decision of the Dean and President, with final authority residing with the President.

If formal charges are brought against the accused student by Lancaster Theological Seminary, the case shall either go to a hearing for adjudication, or be disposed of administratively in a settlement agreement.

The student charged with sexual assault or rape is entitled to due process and will be given notice and full opportunity to respond to the allegations. The student can seek representation, have the same opportunity as the student who reported being assaulted to have a non-participating observer present during the proceedings, and is entitled to information about the school policy on sexual assault and rape, and the procedures that will be followed to address the charges.

If formal charges are brought against the accused student by Lancaster Theological Seminary, the Dean will notify the accused in a written statement outlining the charges. The student charged will have seven (7) working days to respond in writing. The Dean may then seek a settlement that is mutually agreeable to the person making the allegations and the student charged. The Dean and student(s) involved will have 10 working days after receipt of the charged student's response to negotiate an administrative settlement agreement. If no such agreement is reached after 10 working days, the incident shall proceed to a hearing for adjudication.

If a hearing is required, the Dean shall, within 15 working days, appoint a committee composed of three Lancaster Theological Seminary staff members from the administrative council. The committee will, within 30 days of being appointed, hear evidence presented by the accuser and accused, and/or their representatives, and may interview any witnesses as needed, and review any other available evidence. The committee will vote, with a majority having final authority, on whether to sustain the charges. The committee will notify the Dean, the student bringing charges, and the student charged, of the outcome of its vote within five (5) working days of voting. If the charges are sustained, the committee will recommend disciplinary action, up to and including dismissal from all academic programs at Lancaster Theological Seminary, to the Dean. The Dean may act on the recommended disciplinary action, or take other action, up to and including dismissal from all academic programs at Lancaster Theological Seminary. The Dean will inform the student charged of disciplinary action within 10 working days of the committee notification.

The student charged may appeal the outcome of the disciplinary action in writing within 10 working days of being notified. The appeal is to be directed to the President of Lancaster Theological Seminary, who will review the case. The President will make a decision on the disciplinary action recommended by the Dean within 10 working days and will inform the student charged. The decision of the President is final and no further appeal is allowed. If a student is determined to have committed sexual assault, rape, acquaintance rape, other forcible or non-forcible sex offense, disciplinary action up to and including dismissal from academic programs may be imposed by Lancaster Theological Seminary.

For students, those sanctions [may] be executed by the Standards Committee and may include expulsion from the Seminary. [See Section 10 of the Student Handbook.] For employees, the oversight of disciplinary actions will be addressed first by the immediate supervisor and then the Office of the President, and may include termination of employment.

The unlawful possession of illicit drugs and alcohol brings with it strict legal sanctions under local, state and federal laws. Information concerning these laws is available in the Business Office. ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS POLICY

Lancaster Theological Seminary is committed to providing an environment that encourages the use of computers and electronic communications as essential tools to support the instructional, research, administrative, and other work or mission related activities of the Seminary.

In utilizing the Seminary's computers and electronic communications systems, such as electronic mail and access to the Internet, it is important for all users to be aware of the Seminary's policy regarding responsible use. It is the responsibility of each user to ensure that this technology is used for proper and lawful purposes and in a manner that is responsible and does not compromise the confidentiality of sensitive information, the security of the Seminary's systems, or the reputation, policies or mission of the Seminary.

Any posting using Lancaster Seminary's name, logo, or otherwise identifying Lancaster Seminary must be approved in advance by the Vice President of Advancement and Communications in consultation with Senior Leadership.

Computer Systems in General

Systems Security: Computer resources are property of the Seminary and are to be protected from unauthorized access, use, modification, destruction, or disclosure. An active terminal should not be left unattended for any extended period of time, such as, for example, overnight or while the user is otherwise away from the office for several hours. Individual passwords for computers are confidential and may not be shared or posted. If someone else learns a user's password, the password should be changed immediately. Each user is responsible for activity performed using the user's password with such user's knowledge and consent. No user should attempt to obtain access to another user's documents without prior authorization.

No Privacy: Users do not have an expectation of privacy or a personal privacy right in any matter created, received, sent, or stored on a Seminary computer, whether or not the matter is designated as private or confidential. The Seminary reserves the right to access all files or data contained on any Seminary computer, including but not limited to e-mail messages, personal file directories and Internet usage and material at any time and without prior notice. For example, the Seminary may access any and all computer systems for the purpose of assuring compliance with statutory requirements and internal policies, supporting the performance of internal investigations, and assisting with the maintenance and management of the Seminary's information systems.

Computer files may also be subject to search under Court order.

Software License Restrictions and Copyright Laws: Most proprietary software licenses have legal restrictions prohibiting unauthorized use and copying. It is the responsibility of each user to ensure compliance with all copyright and other laws and license restrictions before downloading or receiving software from any source. In addition, software may not be downloaded or received on a Seminary computer, including software available on the Internet, unless it is approved in advance by Computer Services. Only personnel authorized by Computer Services may load software onto any Seminary computer, connect any hardware or other equipment to any Seminary computer, or move or change any Seminary computer equipment.

In addition, information posted, viewed or downloaded from the Internet may be protected by copyright, trademark, piracy or other laws. Reproduction of protected information is permitted only if such reproduction is (1) a fair use or (2) based on express permission given by the copyright owner or authorized agent that is on file with Computer Services at the Seminary or (3) in compliance with use or permission guidelines posted by the owner or authorized agent of the information. It is each user's responsibility to comply with applicable copyright and other legal restrictions and posted use or permission guidelines.

Virus Protection: All files originating from a source outside of the Seminary, including files obtained over the Internet must be checked for possible computer viruses before being downloaded onto a Seminary computer. The virus-checking software on each Seminary computer will ordinarily perform this check automatically. All users should contact Computer Services before downloading a file that may pose a particular risk for any reason. All users must follow any other policies or notices with respect to viruses or other security measures that the Seminary may adopt or post from time to time.

Compliance Required: All users must comply with the Seminary's Electronic Communications Policy. Violation of the policy may result in discipline, up to and including termination of employment or dismissal from the Seminary

Responsible Use of E-Mail: E-mail should be used for work-related [Seminary-related] purposes. The principal purpose of electronic mail (e-mail) is to facilitate instructional, research, administrative, and other work or mission related communications by and among Seminary employees and students. While the Seminary permits reasonable personal use of e-mail (subject to the "No Privacy" policy noted above), such use must not interfere with an employee's work responsibilities or disrupt the work of other users. Users should not use e-mail to widely broadcast "chain letters", "bulk" e-mail (or "spam"), or other non-work related messages. E-mail should not be used for personal monetary gain, outside commercial purposes, or for any partisan political purpose, unless approved by the Vice President of Advancement and Communications in consultation with Senior Leadership.

E-mail correspondence is the property of the Seminary: All e-mail correspondence is the property of the Seminary, whether or not related to personal or confidential matters. The Seminary reserves the right to monitor its e-mail system, including a user's mailbox, at its discretion in the ordinary course of business. The existence of passwords and "message delete" functions do not restrict or eliminate the Seminary's ability or right to access electronic communications. Please note that in certain situations, the Seminary may be compelled to access and disclose messages that were sent over its e-mail system.

Standards of confidentiality and security must be observed: E-mail, which contains confidential information, must be treated as confidential. Users may not share e-mail passwords, provide e-mail access to an unauthorized person, or access another user's e-mail without authorization.

Offensive, demeaning, harassing, defamatory or disruptive e-mails are prohibited: E-mail should conform to the same standards of propriety and respect as any other verbal or written communication at the Seminary. Offensive, demeaning, harassing, defamatory or disruptive messages are prohibited. This includes, but is not limited to, messages that are inconsistent with the Seminary's Faculty, Staff and Student Handbook guidelines and "[Anti-]Harassment Policy". Users who become aware of or receive prohibited e-mail should notify Computer Services. Inappropriate use of e-mail may be grounds for discipline, up to and including termination of employment or dismissal from the Seminary.

Users are responsible for eliminating inappropriate e-mail sent into the Seminary from an outside source: All e-mail sent or received on a Seminary computer is subject to the same standards of propriety and respect. This includes e-mail sent to the Seminary over the Internet from a source outside of the Seminary. When receiving e-mail from outside sources, users have the responsibility of immediately deleting all e-mail that falls below the Seminary's standards as articulated above, including all pornographic, obscene, and sexually explicit communications. The prohibited e-mail should be deleted before the content of the e-mail is viewed, if possible. Users also have the responsibility of ensuring that others do not see the prohibited e-mail.

Responsible Use of the Internet: The Internet is for work-related [and educational research] purposes. The Seminary's connection to the Internet is principally for instructional, research, administrative, and other work or mission-related purposes. Any unauthorized use of the Internet is prohibited. Unauthorized uses include, but are not limited to, posting, viewing, downloading, or otherwise transmitting or receiving offensive, defamatory, pornographic or sexually explicit material; engaging in computer "hacking" or other related activities; or attempting to disable or compromise the security of information on any computer. While the Seminary permits reasonable use of its Internet connection for personal reasons (subject to the "No Privacy" policy noted above), such use should not interfere with an employee's work responsibilities, diminish an employee's work efforts, or disrupt the work of other users. For this reason, use of the Internet for personal reasons during an employee's work hours is generally inappropriate.

Participation in work-related Internet discussion groups is permitted with certain restrictions. Users may participate in work or mission-related Internet discussion groups using the Seminary's computers and electronic communications systems, but only to the extent that such participation (1) does not reflect adversely on the Seminary, (2) is consistent with all the Seminary's standards and policies, including those regarding confidential information and public statements, and (3) does not express any position that is, or may be interpreted as, inconsistent with any position taken by the Seminary or that purports to be, or may be interpreted to be the official position of the Seminary. Users who participate in work-related Internet discussion groups are responsible for ensuring that all information provided by them is accurate and that any personal opinions expressed are clearly identified as "personal" and not the opinion of the Seminary. Defamatory statements or personal attacks are strictly prohibited. Any other posting using the Seminary's name or otherwise identifying the Seminary must be approved in advance by the Dean of the Seminary, the Vice President for Operations and Finance, or the President. Work-related Internet subscriptions are allowed. A subscription through a Seminary computer or electronic communications system to an Internet mailing list is permitted only if the subscription is (1) work or mission-related or (2) does not generate numerous messages.

Take precautions when providing or receiving information over the Internet. A user should never provide confidential, proprietary or restricted information about the Seminary over the Internet without the Seminary's prior written consent. This includes but is not limited to information about employees, students' organizational structure, strategic plans, and financial data. Because it is possible for users to hide their true identity on the Internet, contacts made over the Internet should not be trusted with any Seminary information, whether confidential or not, unless a due diligence process has first been performed. Information obtained from the Internet is not subject to quality controls and should be verified by an independent source before being relied upon. Not all sources on the Internet provide information that is accurate, complete, current or even legal. The Seminary neither monitors nor controls information accessible through the Internet and cannot be held responsible for its content or use. Users may not establish external network connections. Only authorized personnel may establish Internet or other external network connections. Because other connections may cause unauthorized access to the Seminary's systems and information, they are strictly prohibited. Prohibited connections include but are not limited to the establishment of hosts with public modem dial-ins, World Wide Web home pages and File Transfer Protocol (FTP).

The Seminary reserves the right to monitor Internet usage at its discretion.

SERVICES FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES AT LANCASTER THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Complete information is available on the Lancaster Theological Seminary website at My LTS – For Students/Student Services/ Disability Services & Accommodations (ADA)

DISABILITY SERVICES & ACCOMMODATIONS (ADA)

We strive to provide an environment in which all students have equal access to educational opportunities and the campus community. The Seminary makes it possible for students with documented disabilities to use reasonable auxiliary aids and services to ensure effective participation, provided such auxiliary aids and services meet licensing and accrediting standards and do not change program purposes or impact necessary skills.

Any request for accommodation or modifications is to be initiated by the student and must be supported by documentation that includes:

- a recent diagnosis of the current impairment by a qualified, licensed professional;
- how major life activities and/or learning are impacted by the impairment;
- results of any testing to be reported in a descriptive, explanatory manner to substantiate a request for academic adjustment;
- documentation of history of prior accommodation or modifications, if any.

Casual academic accommodations negotiated between individual professors and the student are not recognized under this policy. A request for academic accommodation that comes late in the semester has no bearing on academic performance prior to the request. Requests for accommodation must be made each semester, although documentation may be required only upon initial request. Costs for diagnosis and/or testing are the responsibility of the student. Lancaster Theological Seminary reserves the right to conduct its own independent evaluation if it so chooses.

Disability Services Overview

In accordance with equal education opportunity laws, Lancaster Theological Seminary arranges to provide appropriate academic accommodations for students whose disabilities limit their participation in academic programs for which they are qualified. Students are required to notify the Seminary if they will require special services or accommodations in the classroom or if they want faculty, academic advisers, or administrative offices notified of a disability. Appropriate academic accommodations for students with disabilities are determined on an individual basis utilizing the required documentation of the disability.

The Seminary does not have a special program for students with disabilities. For example, there are no special classes or tutors for students with learning disabilities or attention deficit hyperactivity disorder. The academic support system for a student with a disability is the same as the academic support system for all students.

The Seminary has designated Beth Grimm, M.Ed., E.S. as the Educational Specialist . In this role, Beth coordinates services and accommodations to meet the needs of students with disabilities that limit their participation in the programs and activities of the Seminary. She reviews all the required documentation of disability and determines the appropriate academic accommodations for each individual student. Every student at the Seminary has the opportunity to complete a Disability Notification Form available throughout the year at Disability Services. The Seminary considers information provided on this form as confidential and uses it to provide appropriate accommodations for qualifying students.

How to Obtain Accommodations:

- Step 1: The student submits a Disability Notification Form to the Educational Specialist along with documentation from a qualified professional in a timely manner. This form may be obtained from our website. New students to Lancaster Theological Seminary are encouraged to have this form completed within the first week of each semester. The documentation must be current (the evaluation must have been completed within the last 3 years) and comprehensive. Proper documentation will typically include a history, evaluation, diagnosis, an explanation of the functional limitations that the disability has on major life activities, and a list of recommended accommodations. The Educational Specialist at Lancaster Theological Seminary follows the documentation guidelines set forth by the Educational Testing Service. These guidelines can be found at: <http://www.ets.org/disabilities/evaluators/documentation/>
- Step 2: Ms. Beth Grimm, who serves as the Educational Specialist, reviews the provided documentation, and then contacts students requesting accommodations to engage in a dialogue with them to determine what appropriate accommodations may be given according to the nature of the student's disability, in keeping with the federal laws on disability and their application to institutions of higher education.
- Step 3: The Educational Specialist will meet with each student by appointment. Prior to this meeting, the student must email the Educational Specialist a list of his/her course numbers and professors names. Each student is then emailed a Education Accommodation Plan (EAP), detailing the accommodations the student is approved for, based upon the submitted documentation.
- Step 4: Students are responsible for scheduling appointments with individual professors whose classes they are enrolled in once they have received their Education Accommodation Plan (EAP). Students are encouraged to contact professors to request a convenient time to have a full discussion about their specific disability, their concerns in being able to fulfill the requirements of the class, and what both the student and professor are willing to do to help accommodate them. Each professor will also receive a copy of the Academic Accommodations form from the Educational Specialist detailing the approved accommodations for that specific student.
- Step 5: For the remainder of the student's tenure at Lancaster Theological Seminary, he or she will be contacted via email by the Educational Specialist each semester. At that time, students must email their request for their Education Accommodation Plan (EAP) from the Educational Specialist . A completed EAP copy will then be given to the student and placed on file for their records. Once again, students are responsible for not only meeting with their professors to discuss their accommodations but also doing so in a timely manner.

SERVICES FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES LANCASTER THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY DISABILITY SERVICES NOTIFICATION FORMS

The Seminary has designed the Disability Services Office as the coordinator of services and accommodations to meet the needs of students with disabilities that limit their participation in the programs and activities of the Seminary. Every student at the Seminary has the opportunity to complete a Disability Notification Form, available at the Lancaster Theological Seminary Disability Services website.

The Seminary considers information provided on this form as confidential and uses it to provide appropriate accommodations for qualifying students.

At the beginning of each semester, Disability Services:

- Notifies via email each student who has been approved for accommodations.
- Once the student responds that they would like to make use of their accommodations for the coming semester, their Educational Accommodations Plan (EAP) is then emailed to them.
- Their Academic Accommodations form is emailed to each of their professors in the current semester, outlining the accommodations granted to the student.

Requests for accommodations should be directed to the attention of Beth Grimm, Educational Specialist . Incoming students should submit their request, along with a Disability Notification Form and appropriate documentation during the first week of each semester.

INCLUSIVE AND EXPANSIVE LANGUAGE at LANCASTER THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Language both mirrors and constructs social reality, often intentionally or inadvertently determining who is included and who is excluded from important conversations. For this reason, Lancaster Theological Seminary promotes the use of inclusive language. For our purposes, inclusive language is language that promotes a diverse and just environment for all in which the broadest possible range of people are represented and included in communal conversations. This includes such matters as language about God, humanity, cultures, nationalities, ethnicities, races, and religions, with regard to characteristics such as sex, gender, sexual identities, social class, age, and differing abilities.

The application and use of inclusive language varies based on the context of the conversation. When speaking confessionally or providing testimony of one's own experiences, it is appropriate to use language that best expresses one's personal experiences and understandings. When speaking to or on behalf of a diverse gathered community (e.g. in classroom presentations or corporate worship), it is appropriate to use language that includes the broadest range of experiences and understandings in a spirit of mutual respect for all present.

The purpose of using inclusive language is to expand the entry and welcome into our conversations, lessons, and liturgies to the full diversity of those served by the seminary. The purpose is not to make anyone abandon deeply cherished language to express their experience of life and faith; though a byproduct of our commitment to the use of inclusive language may indeed be an expansion of all of our capacities to effectively communicate about the things we hold most dear. The possibilities for gracefully rephrasing one's speaking and/or writing, once one develops the habit of doing so, are amazingly diverse.

Potential applications:

- Language about human beings: Gender-inclusive language avoids generic use of masculine terms (e.g. man, mankind, or he) to refer to all people. The following terms may be used to more appropriately designate individuals and groups:

For man or mankind: human, human beings, humankind, humanity, people, persons, creatures, citizens, community, ourselves, folk, mortals, beings, etc.

For brotherhood: sisters and brothers, siblings, kindred, peers, friends, community, etc.

For masculine pronouns: he or she, him or her, he/she, s/he (in writing), we, our, their, one, someone, etc.

- Language about God: Language describing the divine is always inadequate and will often differ because of culture, theology, and/or denominational ties. Language about God should, however, be both mindful of and reflect the diversity and richness of God's nature and creation. Inclusive language about God aspires toward balance, creativity, and expansion. Building on the use of multiple names and varied imagery for God found in the Hebrew and Christian scriptures, we encourage people to use balanced, neutral, and expansive language when referring to God.

Some suggestions include: Creator, Redeemer, Holy Spirit, Sustainer, Mother and Father God, Holy One, Life Giver, Spirit of Life and Love, Lover, Gracious One, Faithful Guide, You in Whom we Live and Move and Have Our Being, God of Many Names, etc.

- Language in Formal Academic Work: Once again, the context of written communication will determine the appropriate use of language. When writing confessionally (e.g. sharing faith experiences or beliefs, journaling, etc.), it is appropriate to use the language that best expresses one's personal experiences and understandings. When writing on behalf of or to address the experiences of a larger group of people, it is appropriate to use inclusive or non-exclusive language⁹.

Direct quotations, especially in formal academic work, should generally not be changed to make them inclusive. This is the instance when the writer does not have the full freedom of diction but must observe scholarly standards of accuracy. One should also respect the place of a text within its historical context, and not “fix” a writer’s language anachronistically. If a quoted text is offensive or controversial, it is appropriate to comment in a footnote or to add the Latin (sic) to the text to note one’s awareness of the anomaly. Note, however, that one addition of (sic) is sufficient for each quotation.

- Language about Other Issues of Power/Privilege/Oppression: We strive to gain awareness of the many intersecting and overlapping issues of oppression or injustice (e.g. racism, classism, ageism, able-ism, sexism, heterosexism, colonialism, militarism, etc.). We encourage our entire community to think about the ways in which our language reinforces some of these deeply ingrained prejudices.

A few examples that might inform our creative thinking about language:

Consistently using phrases like “man and wife” or “mother and father” can reinforce the idea that these types of binary heterosexual pairings are the best or only legitimate forms of family. This can undermine the lived experience and deeply valued relationships of those whose families take different forms (e.g. single-parent households, same-gender partners, other non-traditional family structures, etc.).

Consistently equating holiness and/or purity with light/white and sin with darkness/blackness can reinforce negative ideas about race and color, and further support the systems of racism against which we struggle in ourselves, our community, and our world.

Language that connects healing from blindness or lameness (or other disabilities) with salvation from sin can reinforce negative and shaming messages for people with disabilities. Consider using language that recognizes a variety of physical or mental abilities (e.g. “We are marching in the light of God” as well as “We are rolling in the light of God”).

Being attentive to issues of “power” in our language can be an important part of liberation. The use of militaristic language, language that undergirds empire, etc. is something worthy of our reflection.

We recognize that language is constantly evolving. Lancaster Theological Seminary strives to be a community where we openly engage and discuss the intent and impact of various words and phrases on the life of our community with the ultimate goal of authentically engaging our rich diversity and creating an atmosphere where all are empowered to participate in and learn from our conversations.

⁹As one example of exclusive language, the American Academy of Religion defines gender-exclusive language as, “A consistent pattern of English usage where the male is taken to be the normative human person; i.e. the word “man” connotes both the male and the human as such.” (Adopted from The New Dictionary of Liturgy and Worship, J. G. Davies, ed., SCM Press, 1986.)

APPRECIATION OF OTHERNESS AND THE INTERNATIONAL CROSS-CULTURAL REQUIREMENT

God's love embraces all peoples. It is imperative that leaders for today's and tomorrow's churches be (a) open and sensitive to other people's and peoples' realities, and (b) self-critically aware of their own heritage to theological, cultural, ethnic, racial, gender, and socioeconomic biases and other historical conditioning. It is also imperative that leadership for the church anywhere be cognizant and appreciative of the church elsewhere on earth, in the diversity of its expression.

EDUCATIONAL GOALS

Appreciation of Otherness: In light of the value placed on the appreciation of others, a goal of the MDiv Program is that students experience and reflect on the following:

- Social and economic otherness (e.g., poverty, wealth)
- National and cultural otherness (e.g., another country with a primary language different from one's own)
- Racial and ethnic otherness (e.g., situations where Euro-American culture is not dominant)
- Ideological otherness (e.g., different theological and political convictions)
- Ecclesiastical otherness (e.g., different pieties, liturgies, polities, mission emphases)

Such experience and reflection are to include what such otherness means for oneself personally and vocationally, and also for the church, its nature, vocation and ministry.

INTERNATIONAL CROSS-CULTURAL SEMINAR REQUIREMENTS

Means to Achieve the Appreciation of Christian Otherness:

- An important vehicle to achieve an appreciation of ecclesial otherness is the International Cross-Cultural Requirement, a three-week seminar in a Latin-American, Middle-Eastern, African, Asian or Eastern European setting. Sign-up for this during regular registration.
- Field Education and other courses provide additional experience and reflection.

The extent to which each student is achieving this goal is an item of regular review with one's advisor and in the Comprehensive Vocational Reviews.

Learning Objectives for the International Cross-Cultural Requirement:

Fulfillment of the MDiv requirement shall entail demonstration of the following knowledge and abilities:

To identify current major life values and issues in the life of the people and of the church in a situation that is quite different from one's own.

- To describe some of the daily life experiences and struggles of these people and the church in respect of these values and issues, including their creativity as well as their means to cope.
- To describe the church's understanding of its nature, mission and ministry with these people in this place.
- To discover some of the theological reflection and insights which this body of Christians has to contribute to the ongoing development of Christian tradition.
- To discover and critique some of one's own largely-unconscious and operating theological, cultural, ethnic, racial and gender biases and other historical conditioning.
- To forecast how the international cross-cultural experience may affect one's own future spiritual and vocational development, including the conduct of one's ministry.

How These Objectives May Be Achieved:

The normative requirement for the MDiv degree is that the seminarian complete a three-week seminar in a Latin-American, Middle-Eastern, African, Asian or Eastern European culture and in connection with Christians in that culture. The Seminary offers at least one such opportunity annually. The seminar experience includes the following qualities and components:

- Advance orientation, including reading, discussion and planning.
- Participation in an approved setting for the three weeks, which includes:
 - maximum encounter with otherness in terms of language, culture, customs and traditions;
 - maximum direct involvement with the people and the church in that setting;
 - a collegial learning environment with appropriate supervision and regular theological reflection.

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

- Documenting discoveries and learnings through:
 - group reflection (debriefing) at Lancaster Theological Seminary with peers and faculty;
 - a major written report demonstrating the fulfillment of the objectives listed above;
 - a sharing of the experience and learning with the larger seminary community;
 - ongoing reference to the experience and learning as one continues in seminary studies.

Exceptions and Alternatives to the International Cross-Cultural Requirement:

See Section 14 – Master Of Divinity Program/ Alternate Cross-Cultural Seminar Request for the policies and protocols regarding exceptions and alternate proposals.

Appendix VI

LANCASTER THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY POLICY FOR PETS AND SERVICE ANIMALS

Introduction

Keeping pets on campus is restricted to the student apartments in Nevin, Harner, and Bowman. Keeping pets in these apartments is a privilege, not a right. Tenants must commit to abiding by the Pet Policy in order to enjoy the privilege of keeping a pet on campus.

Pets are not permitted in the following buildings: Dietz Refectory, Richards Hall, Mayer Commons, the Lark Administration Building, or the Philip Schaff Library Building. Therefore, pets are not permitted in classrooms, chapel, or in any office.

Permission for Tenants to Keep Pets

1. Permission to keep a pet is granted at Lancaster Theological Seminary (herein after to be referred to as Landlord) sole discretion and is subject to Tenant's strict adherence to all aspects of this pet policy. Any Tenant who wishes to keep a pet will first obtain management's approval and sign a pet agreement.
2. Only common household pets will be allowed. These include dogs, cats, fish, birds, rabbits, and rodents, such as guinea pigs and hamsters, kept as companion animals. No Tenants will be allowed to keep more than two pets at any one time. No pets of any kind over 40 pounds are permitted. Requests to keep more than one pet of any other species will be approved at Landlord's discretion. Landlord may, at its sole discretion, deny requests for any animal.
3. In making a decision on whether to approve a Tenant's request to keep a pet, Landlord will take into account the animal's temperament and the arrangements the Tenant has made to care for the pet.
4. Failure to request permission to keep a pet in a Tenant's apartment will be considered a breach of Tenant's lease or other rental agreement and both the Tenant and the pet may be required to vacate the premises.
5. Landlord will inspect apartments on a regular basis, in accord with lease agreement.

Behavior and Care

1. Pets are to be housed inside the Tenant's apartment, never outside. Dogs going in and out of an apartment or building must be on a leash and under the Tenant's control at all times.
2. Tenants are responsible for keeping their apartments clean, safe, and free of parasites, including fleas.
3. Dog owners must immediately pick up and dispose of, in a sanitary manner, all dog waste deposited on the street or grounds. Cat owners must place soiled cat litter in tied plastic bags and dispose of the bags in garbage pails designated by the Landlord.
4. All adult dogs and cats must be spayed or neutered, unless a veterinarian certifies that health problems prevent the dog or cat from being spayed or neutered. Documentation of that the dog or cat has been spayed or neutered must be submitted before final approval to keep a pet is given by Landlord.
5. All pets must receive proper veterinary care, including all appropriate vaccinations inoculations; must be well-groomed, and must be given a healthy diet and exercised according to their needs. All pets must also be maintained in accordance with applicable state and local laws. Dogs and cats must wear identification tags at all times. Tenant will supply Landlord with proof of vaccinations each year when the agreement is renewed.
6. No pet is to be left alone in a Tenant's apartment for a period longer than is appropriate in light of the needs of the individual pet. While this period may vary depending on the pet in question, Landlord and Tenant understand that, in general, dogs should not be left for more than 9 hours, and other pets for more than 24 hours, on a regular basis. Landlord will attempt to contact the Tenant if the Landlord has reasonable cause to believe a pet is alone in an apartment beyond what is appropriate, if that pet is creating a disturbance, or if any other emergency situation appears to exist with respect to that pet. If the Landlord is unable to contact the Tenant within a reasonable period, the Landlord may enter Tenant's apartment and make any necessary arrangements for the pet's care, including removing the pet and placing it in a temporary home, such as a boarding kennel. Any costs incurred will be deducted from Tenant's pet deposit. (See below).

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

7. Neighbors or other students who are aware of pets being left unattended in apartments are asked to report the situation to the Business Office (during a workday) or the Concierge (in the evening or on a non-work day), who will contact the Business Office. The Business Office will address the situation as outlined above.
8. Tenants are responsible for ensuring that their pets do not disturb or annoy other Tenants or neighbors. Tenants whose pet(s) are determined by the Landlord to be disturbing others must remedy the situation immediately. A Tenant who fails to remedy the situation after three (3) warnings will receive a thirty (30) day notice to remove the pet from the premises. If the Tenant fails to remove the pet, the Tenant will be considered to be in breach of Tenant's lease or other rental agreement and may be required to vacate the premises.

Fees

Fees are adjusted periodically (normally July 1st) by the Board of Trustees and therefore are subject to change.

1. Tenants are responsible for and must immediately pay for all damages caused by their pets. In addition, each Tenant who wishes to keep a pet must pay an annual fee and pet deposit upon signing the pet agreement. If the cost of repairing any damages to the apartment or the campus caused by the pet exceeds the pet deposit, the Landlord may use funds from the Tenant's regular security deposit to cover the excess. If the Landlord uses all or any portion of the pet deposit or security deposit to cover any pet-related damages or expenses incurred by the Landlord during the Tenant's tenancy, the Tenant must immediately restore the deposits to their full, original amounts.
2. Tenants are responsible for and must immediately pay for all injuries caused by their pets. If Tenant's pet injures a person or another pet on campus, Tenant is responsible for all expenses that are a result of the injury. Payment should be made directly to the injured party. If Tenant's pet injures a person or another pet on campus, Tenant may be required to remove the pet permanently from the apartment and campus.
3. Annual Fee (NON-REFUNDABLE) The annual fee is non-refundable.
 - a. Dog $150 (2nd dog - $50)
 - b. Cat $75 (2nd cat - $25)
 - c. Other Animals $50 (2nd - $50)
4. Pet Deposit $300
5. The pet deposit is fully refundable if the Landlord determines that there are no damages or other expenses caused by the pet(s) upon Tenant's vacating the apartment or permanently relocating the pet(s).
6. Fines

Anyone, Tenants or any other person, responsible for violating the Pet Policy will incur the following fines. Violations should be reported to the Business Office.

- | | |
|--|--------------------|
| a. Bringing a pet into a building where pets are not permitted | $25 per violation |
| b. Failure to pick up dog waste on seminary grounds | $25 per violation |

Service Animals

General Information¹⁰

1. The ADA defines a service animal as any guide dog, signal dog, or other animal individually trained to provide assistance to an individual with a disability. If they meet this definition, animals are considered service animals under the ADA regardless of whether they have been licensed or certified by a state or local government.

Service animals perform some of the functions and tasks that the individual with a disability cannot perform for him or herself. Guide dogs are one type of service animal, used by some individuals who are blind. This is the type of service animal with which most people are familiar. But there are service animals that assist persons with other kinds of disabilities in their day-to-day activities. Some examples include:

1. Alerting persons with hearing impairments to sounds.
2. Pulling wheelchairs or carrying and picking up things for persons with mobility impairments.
3. Assisting persons with mobility impairments with balance.

¹⁰This section is taken from www.ada.gov. See this website for more information regarding federal regulations regarding Service Animal

Lancaster Theological Seminary 2018-2019 Student Handbook

A service animal is not a pet.

4. The service animal will be permitted to accompany the individual with a disability to all areas of the facility where the person is normally allowed to go. An individual with a service animal may not be segregated from other people.
5. Service animals used by Tenants are subject to the Annual Fee, Pet Deposit, and behavior and care expectations. The exception is access to all areas where people are normally allowed to go.
6. Tenants planning to bring service animals onto campus on a regular basis must register the service animal with the Business Office.
7. All federal and state laws supersede the Seminary policy in cases where there is a contradiction between them.
